SAN FRANCISCO—The normal air conditioning for the San Francisco Bay Area is NOT demonstrated here, just a half-million dollar four-alarm fire which struck at the evening commuter hour. 200 firemen and 45 pieces of equipment brought the blaze under control in about two hours but remained on the scene for extinguishing and cleanup for many more. Fireman at right standing on clouds, courtesy of an aerial ladder, continues to pour water on blaze that destroyed the Wesix plant. (UPI Telephone)

Gauntlet Down to Red China

LBJ Raps Aims of Chinese Which Favor North Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the aim of Communist China "is to erode and discredit America's ability to prevent Chinese domination over all of Asia," but "in this they shall never succeed."

Johnson threw down the gauntlet to the Red Chinese in a television-radio address on American efforts in Viet Nam. The President prepared his talk for a meeting with editorial cartoonists in the East Room of the White House.

Mayor Views TV System At Boonville

Mayor L. L. Studer visited homes, businesses and city officials in Boonville Wednesday to investigate the success of that Cooper County city's cable antenna television system in its infancy there.

"One of the main reasons I wanted to see a natural operation of a CATV system was the claim raised here that CATV will interfere with homeowners presently using on-roof antennas," Studer said. "I found absolutely no interference."

The mayor said at one business house he viewed television sets side-by-side, one connected to the CATV system and the other to a roof antenna. He said the reception on both for Channel 8 of Columbia was perfect. Studer was driven to Boonville by H. Ray Anderson, manager of Sedalia's airport. During the day he was hosted by Boonville mayor Earl Powell.

Boonville's CATV system was initiated in February and 400 of the city's estimated 2,000 homes have contracted for the service. To date, Studer said he was informed the company had installed for 112 customers.

The charge there is $5.95 per month with installation free, providing customers procure the service at this time while installation crews are making initial hookups. Later installation fees will be $18, the mayor was told.

Boonville will receive two percent of the CATV firm's gross revenue as a license fee, Studer said.

Instructions For 'Kid Day'

About 296 Smith-Cotton seniors will be taking part in the 1965 Kid Day celebration tomorrow, and the school has issued several specifications to prevent interruption in the flow of traffic for non-participating students.

The seniors, who have all of Sedalia to ramble around in today, will nevertheless be restricted to the Massachusetts Street side of the campus, Friday, officials said.

All seniors have the day off from school, and the lengthy celebration will be topped by a Kid Day Dance at 8 p.m. at the cafeteria, school officials said.

S-C Spring Concert

Tonight Smith-Cotton's music department will present their annual Spring Concert in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The department consists of the Orchestra, Senior High Band and Mixed Chorus, and is under the direction of Mrs. Carl Schrader.

Asks Meeting With Council On CATV

Claude H. Knight, chairman of the Sedalia Television Organization, today called on the Mayor and City Council for a closed door meeting to discuss the national and local outlook on CATV.

"This organization will include three or four members of the Sedalia TV organization and one or two members of the Television Electronic Service Association of Missouri," Knight said in a letter to the mayor and council, delivered to City Hall Thursday morning.

He requested the meeting take place before any final decision on CATV here is reached and asked that news media be invited.

The local TV group headed by Knight has also adopted a resolution passed by the Television Electronic Service Association of Missouri calling for Federal Communications Commission jurisdiction over CATV.

This resolution asks cities to protect their municipal interests and the interests of their citizens by deferring action on all

Military Display By Guard Units

As a part of Armed Forces Week observances, a display of military vehicles and weapons will be staged by the Sedalia-based Missouri Army National Guard units Friday night on the Pettis County Courthouse parking lot.

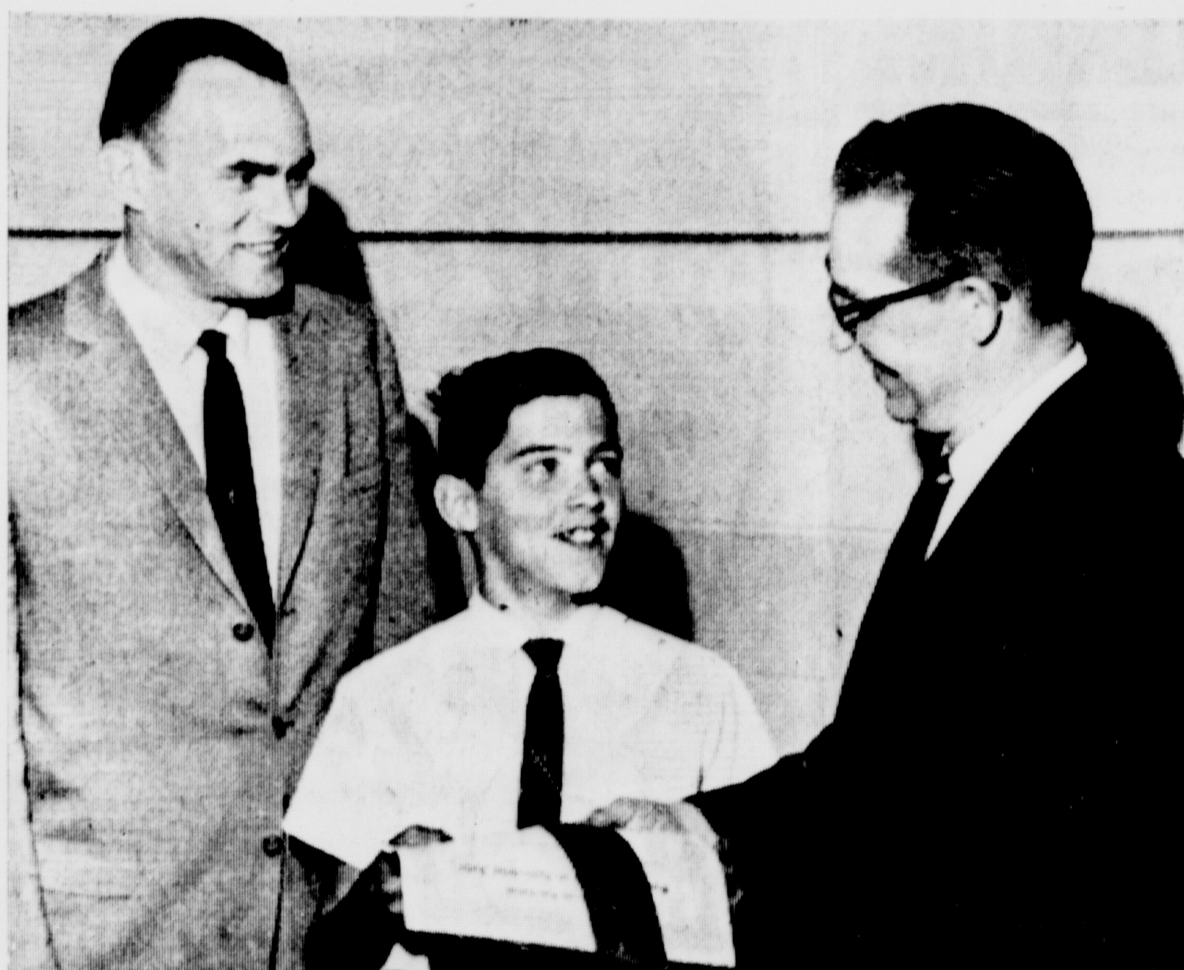

In making the announcement, Lt. Col. Hobart R. Quinn invited shoppers and others to stop by the display. Officers and enlisted men will be on hand to answer any questions.

A 105 mm Howitzer will be displayed by "C" Battery, 1st Battalion, 128th Artillery. The gun to be shown is one of three assigned to the local unit and is towed to the annual summer field training exercises and fired by members of the unit. Other equipment to be shown will be a two and one-half ton kitchen truck complete with the field equipment necessary for preparation of meals while conducting field exercises. Also on display will be communications equipment and other items used by the two local units in the performance of their duties.

The purpose of the display is to acquaint local citizens with the role of the local units in defense of the state and union.

The "C" Battery, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery, is commanded by Capt. Henry L. Luchs. Headquarters Battery, 135th Artillery Group, is commanded by Capt. John E. Brown.

Scores In Contest

Dominican Settlement Indicated

Foreign Minister For Rebels Says Solution Near

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic — A spokesman for the Dominican rebels indicated Wednesday that a settlement with the rival military-civilian junta may be near. But he held out for dismissal of some leading military men backing the junta.

"There's every reason to hope we are near a settlement," said the rebel foreign minister, Jotun Cury. He spoke after a conference between Col. Francisco Caamano Dene, the rebel leader, and two members of the peace commission of the Organization of American States, Ricardo C. Colombo of Argentina and Carlos Garcia Bauer of Guatemala.

Cury added that a peaceful solution depends on the dismissal of some key officers backing the junta. The rebels' chief target is Brig. Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin, who led the resistance to the revolt.

Six of eight high-ranking officers removed by the junta in a peace move arrived in Puerto Rico aboard a Dominican navy frigate. But Caamano said previously their dismissal was not enough to satisfy him.

Latin-American diplomatic circles in Washington reported a broadly based interim government embracing both government and rebel leaders may be in sight. But Cury, speaking to newsmen, ruled out a coalition government.

30 Year Term To Thompson For Spying

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Glenn Thompson, the former Air Force enlisted man who confessed to spying for Russia for six years, was sentenced today to 30 years in prison.

The 30-year-old Long Island service station operator bowed his head and closed his eyes when he heard U.S. Dist. Judge Walter Bruchhausen in Brooklyn say:

"The penalty prescribed is death or imprisonment for any term of years, or for life."

"The defendant was engaged during a period of six years here and abroad in undermining our national security. The consequences thereof are not readily determinable. It is clear that his criminal activities warrant severe punishment."

After that came the 30-year sentence.

Arrested last Jan. 7 at his service station at Babylon, N. Y., the 6-foot-2, 250 pound Thompson pleaded guilty March 8 to conspiring with two former members of Russia's U.N. personnel to steal U.S. military secrets.

The Weather

The temperature one year ago today was high 66; low 47; two years ago, high 85; low 63; three years ago, high 89; low 66.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed today the consolidation of the Weather Bureau and the Coast and Geodetic Survey to create a new agency to be known as the Environmental Science Service Administration.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — A broad conflict of interest bill whipped through the House Wednesday without opposition. The measure, urged by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, was sent to the Senate on a vote of 138-6.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Great Britain has drawn $1.4 billion from the International Monetary Fund to repay some debts and bolster its reserves.

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The United States and the Congo signed a $15-million, 40-year economic aid agreement Wednesday night.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona's two university presidents told a legislative committee Wednesday they do not think there is any attempt being made to incite students on their campuses to oppose U.S. foreign policy.

MOSCOW (AP)—Indian Prime Minister La Bahadur Shastri and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin met in the Kremlin today for talks that apparently covered economic relations between the two countries.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has vetoed his first bill. It would have authorized the Cape Girardeau County Collector to set up an office at Cape Girardeau at county expense in addition to his office in the county seat of Jackson.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday night completed hearings on the 1965-66 budget. The total for the year in the executive budget is $863 million.

FULTON, Mo. (AP)—The Fulton postoffice was jammed this morning as the Sir Winston Churchill postage stamp went on sale.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Furniture and other household goods would be tax-exempt under a constitutional amendment approved Wednesday by a House committee.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., will deliver the commencement address at the 123rd annual graduation exercises of the University of Missouri June 8.

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany officially announced today the establishment of diplomatic relations with Israel.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Dr. Rachel Henderlite became the first woman minister of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., Wednesday night in ceremonies that crossed lines of race as well as sex.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration's $1.5-billion anti-poverty bill was approved by the House Education and Labor Committee today over Republican protests of rush tactics.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The House today accepted Senate changes to a bill requiring vision tests for renewal of driver licenses and sent the bill to Gov. Hearnes.

Torch Artists Clean Out Safe

The night was quiet in Ionia—at least in most of the town—but at Main and Second Streets, bank robbers cut open a large round vault and apparently "cleaned it out."

The safecrackers evidently were not satisfied with whatever they removed from the vault and proceeded to cut open the door to a walk-in safe in the back room. They discovered it contained 102 new safety deposit boxes and bank records.

What was obtained from the round vault could run into several thousand dollars but the exact amount has not been determined. Until Federal Bureau of Investigation Agents arrive and make their inspection, get fingerprints, examine markings on the floor, and take note of other evidence, the check of the vault will not be made.

The safe burglars used acetylene torches to cut open the big round safe which they rolled to a back room from the front portion of the building. Here they went to work on cutting through the "ball" instead of working on the door and combination. They opened a hole through which they evidently poured water during the cutting operation in an effort to keep currency from catching fire.

The robbers had water close by in a rest room near the door. It was evident the robbers removed "something" from the safe. Scattered about the floor were various types of travelers checks, Bank of America and Express Travelers Cheques, and various other papers over which they walked and mashed into the water covered floor.

An FBI agent from Jefferson City arrived early in the morning and conducted a routine investigation at the bank, but had a call in for an investigating team from Kansas City. He said it was impossible at the present time to give any report on any amount of money missing. This would have to wait until a closer check and an audit could be made by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which has the robbery loss covered.

The robbery was discovered shortly after 6 o'clock Thursday morning by Rudy Harms of Ionia, the janitor, who had gone to the bank to cleanup. He then went next door to the Ionia Gro-

Jury Trial In Appeal On Speeding

Arresting Highway Patrol troopers and the defendant testified before the noon recess today in the jury trial of Mrs. Mabel Janette Rahm, Knob Noster, who is appealing a Magistrate Court conviction on a speeding charge in 1963.

Judge Sam Blair, Jefferson City, is hearing the case as the judge of this circuit, Frank W. Hayes, disqualified himself on request of the defense.

The jury began deliberation of the case at 1:58 p.m. Trooper Pete Stohr, a Highway patrolman stationed here at Sedalia, testified he was operating the patrol radar unit on the divided pavement west of LaMonte on Highway 50, Feb. 26, 1963, when Mrs. Rahm's compact auto passed through the radar screen and the dial in his car registered 77 m.p.h.

Stohr said the radar unit was setup approximately one hour before Mrs. Rahm was arrested at 2 p.m. He testified the unit was checked for accuracy twice by Patrol Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle driving his patrol car past the device. The unit was adjusted with a tuning fork and on Van Winkle's third pass, he said the device registered properly at 70 m.p.h.

Downtown Association Elects Askren

James Askren of the Askren-Caine Furniture Co., was elected general chairman of the Sedalia Downtown Association and Philip McLaughlin, McLaughlin Bros. Furniture Co., was re-elected treasurer at a breakfast meeting of the Association Thursday morning at Bothwell Hotel.

The names of the new officers were submitted by Bob Cain, who as was other members of the committee, served as chairman of the promotions for each quarter of the first year. Martin Goodrich, Don Weller and Virgil Dean. Askren will take office in October.

Virgil Dean, chairman for the last quarter announced that Sidewalk Bazaar Day will be Monday, July 19. He stated that there will be a pre-Fourth of July sale promotion on June 30, and that other promotions in which they would participate would be the State Fair, Back to School and something special for September which has not yet been decided.

Don Weller, promotion chairman for this quarter, said that the May promotion will be in conjunction with the Vacation and Outdoor Living edition of The Democrat-Capital May 23. Neville Jonson, advertising manager for the Sedalia Democrat-Capital explained the project.

Weller stated that the June promotion will be June 13 to 19 with three weekend vacation trips for two people along with special gifts from individual firms.

George Dugan presided over the meeting in the absence of

Kennie Miller To Hearing On Kaysinger

Kennie Miller, 1223 West Third, with a delegation from the Western Land o' Lakes Association will attend the hearing in Washington, D. C., May 17 and 18, before the House and Senate Public Works Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee. The hearing involves $15 million dollars for this area, an $8 million addition to the already budgeted $7 million appropriation to be spent by the U. S. Corps of Engineers during the 1966 fiscal period on the Kaysinger project.

The delegation, which includes representatives from 17 counties numbering between 80 and 100 people, will leave Kansas City at 11 a.m. Sunday by chartered plane.

The meeting Monday will be before the House and Tuesday before the Senate.

Pettis County is the gateway to the Kaysinger area which is one of the three dams that will stop the flood waters and provide more electric power but will also create a vast recreation area. Of the 17 counties Pettis is one of the three on the northern edge.

THE PETTIS COUNTY CHAPTER of the American Red Cross was singularly honored last week when Mrs. Eula Spencer, Executive Secretary of the chapter, now on sick leave, was presented a special commendation certificate by the Veterans Administration. Presentation was at Bothwell Hospital where Mrs. Spencer is a patient. Harry D. Smythe, chief of the Contact Division of the Veterans Administration, Kansas City, made the award in the presence of Charles W. Harris, Red Cross Field Director with the VA in Kansas City, and Phillip McLaughlin, Pettis County Red Cross Board member. The chapter shared in the award in a second presentation ceremony at the chapter offices. Shown here is Smythe making the award to James T. Denny, Pettis County Red Cross Chapter Chairman, looking on in the background, left to right, are Hank Monsees, Pettis County United Fund Director, Harry G. Kull, chapter vice-chairman, and newly selected UF campaign chairman for 1965, Maurice F. Hogan, chapter board member and Home Service Chairman, and Jim Reed, president of UF. Smythe said the citation was the second such award made to a Red Cross worker by VA in the past 20 years. The citation reads: "This certificate awarded to Eula R. Spencer, Executive Secretary, Pettis County chapter, Sedalia, Missouri, The American Red Cross, 1938 - 1965. For unselfish and dedicated devotion to the alleviation of want, hardship and pain from those among whom she has lived. For being content to be a servant of many rather than claiming any recognition of her own unique contributions. But most especially for Outstanding and Exceptional personal Red Cross Service to thousands of veterans and their dependents." The certificate is signed by Edward H. Garry, Manager of the Regional Office, and bears the gold VA seal.

Unveil JFK Memorial In Britain

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II will unveil Friday Britain's memorial to John F. Kennedy at historic Runnymede where 750 years ago the barons forced King John to sign the Magna Carta.

The memorial stands on hallowed ground. Britain's present-day personal and political freedoms are based on the Magna Carta.

Runnymede, a low-lying meadowland beside the River Thames, is 21 miles west of London.

The queen will dedicate the memorial as the president's widow and the two Kennedy children, Caroline, 7, and John F. Jr., 4, look on.

A London newspaper, the Sun, said that when someone in the United States said to Mrs. Kennedy that surely she would not be taking the children to London, she replied:

"Why not? This is a solemn occasion and I want them to share it."

Included on the guest list for the unveiling are Sens. Robert F. and Edward M. Kennedy, and their sisters, Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk — who arrived in London Wednesday to attend the ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — will represent President Johnson.

The ceremonies will begin at 1 p.m. with a musical program played by the band of the Irish Guards.

The queen — accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip — will arrive at 2 p.m. and be met by Mrs. Kennedy. They will then walk across the grass, through a wicket gate and up a path to the memorial, a block of Portland stone on a granite plinth, a paved terrace and two symbolic stone seats for contemplation.

The stone bears these words of Kennedy at his inauguration: "Let every nation know that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, support any friend or oppose any foe, to assure the survival, and success of liberty."

The British government and individual Britons hope to raise $2.8 million for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Fund. It now totals $2.38 million.

Income from the fund is expected to send 10 British students to the United States each year for study at Harvard, Radcliffe or Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The chief speakers at the ceremony will be former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, 71, at whose Sussex residence Kennedy stayed when he visited Britain in June, 1963; Prime Minister Harold Wilson; the queen, and Rusk.

The ceremony will end at 2:40 p.m. with the playing of the "Star-Spangled Banner" followed by "God Save the Queen."

As the guests file away, the pipes and drums of the Irish Guards will play "Flowers of the Forest."

'Outside Step' Is Integrated For Women

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tradition dies hard in this windy city, and none has been laid to rest with more wordage than the custom of the "outside step" of the dear old dinky cable cars.

Since 1873, when they first clattered up the hills of San Francisco, it has been traditional that the weaker sex — that is to say, women — should not ride the outside step.

The outside step — a 10-foot-long running board along the outside seat — was a male stronghold. The woman who tried to ride this hallowed plank was soon told off by the conductor, or by the gripman who drives the cars with long steel grips that clutch the moving cable.

But in recent weeks the outside step has been integrated — for women.

"Get 'em off!" bellowed Tom McGrath, spokesman for the Cable Car Gripsmen's Union, when a college coed, Mona Hutchin, 19, dared break the ice. She insisted she could ride outside — lawfully.

And so she could. In fact, so could all females. Turned out there is no law against women riding the step.

It doesn't make any difference to me whether they ride outside," said husky John Hepburn, gripman of the Hyde Street Line.

Conductor Frank Brown agreed: "No difference to me at all," he said. "If they fall off, they fall off. Just wait, they'll start falling off."

No women were on the step at the time. The main objections to their riding there are that they're weaker than men, wear skirts that can blow revealingly aloft in high breezes, and — besides — they're women! The objection about the skirts was based on the theory that the girls, in trying to get their wind-blown skirts down, would forget about hanging on to the railing and topple off.

On another car a little later:

"Now look. Are you two going to stand out there?" gripman Jim Stewart said, glowering at Sue Cuddeback and Kerin Baker.

"Then you got to hang on with both hands or in you come. Both hands!"

The girls, determined, stayed put.

Passengers turned as one to watch.

"Both hands, see," snarled Stewart.

"How are we going to get our fares if we have to hang on with both hands?" said Sue, hanging on with both hands.

"I don't care," scoffed Stewart. "Like I said, both, both hands!"

The girls got off without paying their fares.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I am not trying to pass myself off as a perfect wife. I have my faults the same as anyone else. But I am not simple-minded and I do have my pride.

My husband is very fussy about what I pack for his lunch. I try to send him off every day with a bucket that is nourishing and tasty.

Several weeks ago I forgot to put mustard on his pastrami sandwiches and the way that man carried on you would have thought I had tried to poison him. Now he pulls the lunches apart and checks. Then I have to put everything back together and repack it.

He hasn't found anything to complain about since the mustard incident, but he keeps tearing up his lunches just to make me feel inferior. Of course I get mad and yell at him and he yells back and we start off every day with a fight. How can this be stopped?—SUB-NORMAL.

Dear S-N: Tell your husband you will write a list of everything you plan to put in his lunch bucket and that you will check it off as it goes in. Then he can look at the list and leave the lunch alone.

Some wives don't want to put a lunch together once, let alone twice. It is inconsiderate of him to double your work.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in regard to "Rattled Robert"—the boy whose father insists that he make business calls on the telephone. The boy is supposed to find the number and get the party on the line. Then his father comes to the phone. The boy said he hated to do it and asked you if it was fair. You said "Yes. It is fair, and it is also good training."

I am 14, too, and I know how this kid must feel. Foolish is the only word I can think of. I agree it might be good training but I don't think the man should train his son at the expense of business people. Also, if the boy can't think of anything to say the father should tell him.—ANOTHER RATTLED TEEN-AGER.

Dear Rattled One: Many adults, as well as teens, write to gripe about my advice. I even heard from a telephone company supervisor who said it was not "good manners to impose children on business associates."

Sorry, friends, but a 14-year-old is no child. A 14-year-old should be able to say, "Good evening, Mr. Swanson. This is Robert Klienpell. I'm calling for my father. Will you hold on for just a moment, please?"

The father should take over instantly and not expect the boy to make small talk with Mr. Swanson. I should have made this point clear in my advice.

Dear Ann Landers: I never thought I'd have to write to you but my husband has a habit that is driving me to distraction. Jake works the late shift. He leaves for work at 11:20 p.m. Every night as he walks out the door he says, "Bye, Honey, Go to bed."

Where else does he think I could go at that hour? Every time he says that dumb farewell I feel like knocking his head off. How can I get him to break the habit?—SCREAMING MIMI

Dear Mimi: You'll never get him to break the habit, but you can reduce your own irritability by having a different reply for him every night—and the nuttier the better.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

UNCLE SAM'S ESTATE—Map shows state-by-state percentage of land owned by the federal and state governments and tax-exempt Indian land in the U.S. as of June 30, 1963. The federal government owns 770 million acres of land in the 50 states and the District of Columbia—34 per cent of the nation's total land area. It also holds in trust more than 50 million acres of tax-free Indian land in 27 states—2 per cent of the land. The states own 78 million acres—3 per cent of the nation's land. ## Loses Leadership

Halleck Has First Choice Of Rayburn House Offices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The view from Charlie Halleck's window is very different these days.

He looks up at the Capitol dome from across the street now, instead of sitting under it in the inner sanctum of the House Republican leader's office, as he did for six years.

The view is magnificent, but it takes some getting used to for the "gut-fighter" from Indiana. It should be magnificent, because Halleck had first pick of all the choice offices in the new Rayburn House Office Building.

That was because he was voted out of his leadership post in January by a rebellion of "Young Turk" Republicans who installed Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan in his place.

Halleck had to move on, and so he became the first congressman to settle in the new building, even though it wasn't quite finished then.

Halleck sits in solitary splendor now surrounded by the souvenirs of bygone political wars. A row of miniature elephants parades along the edge of his desk, and there is a golden telephone, the same one he used on the platform at the Republican convention of 1960 in Chicago. The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. gave it to him.

At 64, the ex-leader seems not quite so bouncy as in the days when he marshaled the Republican troops against the Democrats. But he insists a recent medical checkup showed him in good shape.

"The pressure is off now, I don't have to be on the floor for the opening prayer," he said in an interview.

The fact is his stocky form is seldom seen on the House floor since his downfall from the leadership.

As to the party's crushing defeat last November, Halleck said, "I was here when things were a heck of a lot worse. We were down to 88 Republicans in the House back in 1937. We came back, and we will again." There are 140 Republicans now, and 294 Democrats.

He analyzed the election this way: "We should have clobbered the Democrats among the farm folks. But there was a sort of whispering campaign that if were bound to be an issue in the next congressional elections.

"Many times down there with Democrat presidents I've backed them on foreign policy. It goes back to the Truman Doctrine in Turkey, I'd say, 'Mr. President, if that's the policy I'm for it.' But sometimes it seems we get called in when the sirens are blowing for a crash landing instead of when the whistle blows for the takeoff."

Halleck said he sometimes disagrees with the new leader, Ford, on policy matters, but he believes in party unity.

The "new image" Republicans who worked to oust Halleck said the party leadership must do more than oppose, that it must develop reasonable alternatives to Democratic programs.

INDIAN WAR PATH—Believing that the Indian Ocean may become of vital strategic value to the West, the United States and Britain are studying the possibilities of establishing communications and other bases there. Black labels on Newsmag above show the four island sites particularly studied by the Anglo-American survey team. Far-flying bombers and far-ranging nuclear submarines have lessened the strategic value of fixed land bases. With bases on sparsely inhabited islands, the U.S. and Britain could protect India, thwart Red China and make quick contact with Viet Nam, Malaysia, Indonesia.

Top Award For Alaskan Newswoman

NEW YORK (AP) — Genie Chance, wife of an Anchorage, Alaska, automobile dealer and mother of three children, had the kind of free-wheeling job every broadcast journalist dreams about.

As a regular reporter for an Anchorage radio station 14 months ago, her beat covered an area of about 18,000 square miles. She chased police cars and fire engines in Anchorage, but sometimes found herself with camera and tape recorder, aboard a crab boat en route to a remote Eskimo village; in a helicopter covering troops training for arctic warfare; in a plane with smoke jumpers fighting a 10,000-acre tundra fire.

Under such circumstances, it was ironic that Genie Chance's biggest story broke when she was riding quietly down an Anchorage street in her automobile. It was on March 27, 1964, and all of sudden her car began to bounce. "I thought at first it was a flat tire," she recalls. "Then I saw people running out of buildings and looking up — and buildings literally began to wave."

It was the great Alaskan earthquake. Mrs. Chance drove immediately — automatically — to the city's public safety building (which was anything but safe after the quake) and using the broadcasting equipment in her automobile remained on duty continuously for 59 hours. She sent out news to a city and countryside whose telephone communications were cut by disaster, organized ham radio operators, gathered rescue information, reunited separated families and helped set up public shelters and rescue teams.

In recognition of her, level-headed marathon, Texas-born Mrs. Chance recently was given the top "Golden Mike" award of a national women's magazine (McCalls).

"Some of the things I saw are memories you want to push out of your mind," she says. "But others you want to remember. I found that I was getting on with my job in an emergency the best I could—but 10 days later, I had a big reaction — hysterics and a good cry. My husband, thank heavens, was very sympathetic."

BALLOONS FOR THE KIDDIES

FATEFUL SINKING—A half-century ago, the greatest liner then afloat went to the bottom off the south coast of Ireland with a loss of 1,198 lives, 125 of them Americans. The sinking of Britain's Lusitania by a German submarine on May 7, 1915, horrified the world and was a major factor leading to United States entry into the World War I two years later. Debate continued for years after the war over German claims, and British denials, that the liner had been carrying munitions.

Johnson Family Memories Being Shared With Public

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—The little white frame house of the Victorian era is full of nostalgic memories which Lyndon Baines Johnson is now sharing with the public.

From his picture in an "ice cream parlor chair" at the age of 18 months, to the presidential seal, it tells his story — boy and man.

"Dreaming of a radiant future for you," his mother, Rebekah Baines Johnson wrote in a letter to her son, Lyndon, on his 1934 honeymoon.

"I'm not going to be the black sheep of the family after all," said the man who was to be president of the United States as he jubilantly wrote home of his acceptance on the college debating team.

Johnson's family, his wife, Lady Bird, and particularly his antique-minded younger sister, Lucia Johnson Alexander, participated in the labor of love — a year and a half effort to restore the President's boyhood home as it was when he lived there in his schooldays from about 1913 to 1926. They gathered all the family furnishings they could and bought antiques and reproductions to fill in.

Today, the Texas Historical Society places the official medallion on the modest rural home of Johnson's boyhood, making it an historic landmark and opening it to the public four days a week.

A one-block detour off Texas Highway 290 brings the visitor to the one-story Johnson home on a quiet residential street. The house has two ell-shaped front porches, and in the front yard are two old arbor vitae trees and a covered well with an oaken bucket. The grounds are planted with a wide variety of typically Texas flowers and shrubs.

A spokesman for the Johnson family said no figure could be given on the cost of the restoration, but that it was paid for by the Johnsons. The house is being operated by the Johnson Family Foundation.

The browsing visitor can look over such memorabilia as Johnson's fourth-grade report card, showing all A's for the month of March 1917 — except for deportment in which he got C-plus.

While deportment plagued him at age 8, a nearby memory case holds his Silver Star Medal, awarded for "gallantry in action" on duty as a Navy commander in World War II.

The "This is Your Life" portrayal is dear to the President's heart. Just stepping into the house, with its collection of Eastlake Victorian furniture, Bristol glass lamps hanging from ceiling chains, Brussels lace curtains, and knick-knacks, sets him off on remembrances.

Recently, he regaled reporters for more than an hour with fond, but off-the-record stories of his father, Sam Ealy Johnson, a tall, rugged rancher, lawyer, real estate trader and six-term Texas legislator; and his cultured mother, Rebekah Baines, a college graduate who taught school and gave lessons

Jefferson PTA Is Headed By Mrs. K. Miller

Mrs. Kenneth Miller was installed president of Jefferson PTA April 29 in the school auditorium by Mrs. Jake Summers, council president.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. James O. Dotson, first vice president; Mrs. A. L. Janes, second vice president; Mrs. Tom Hampton, secretary; Mrs. Leroy Meyer, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Smith, historian.

A program was given by the school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Helen Coffelt.

Devotional was a guitar solo, "I Believe," played by Bill Janes.

in elocution and public speaking. In an old-fashioned revolving bookcase of family volumes, there are childhood storybooks, one inscribed to Lyndon "From Mama."

The dining room, with its gateleg table and pineapple-pattern centerpiece crocheted by Grandmother Baines, reminds the family how "everybody in the town knew Mrs. Johnson set a good table." Her specialties included dewberry cobbler, fried chicken, spoon bread and turkey dressing which Lady Bird recalls as "the best I ever ate."

One thing dramatized by the restoration is the deep mutual affection of Rebekah Baines and her oldest son, Lyndon. It shows in a number of their letters, which are displayed.

Congratulating "My Darling Boy" on his election to Congress for the first time in 1937, Mrs. Johnson wrote that the theme of her many letters to her son had been: "I love you; I believe in you; I expect great things of you."

On his side, Lyndon told his mother what her letters meant to him. Writing from Southwest Texas State Teachers College in 1929, he said:

"Your letters always give me more strength, renewed courage and that bulldog tenacity so essential to the success of any man. Now when one is delayed, a spell of sadness and disappointment is cast over me." Adding to the Johnson legend are scores of photographs, treasured by the family, and some contributed by neighbors. They show Lyndon in his first long trousers, amid his school chums, including one of his first sweethearts, Kittie Clyde Leonard. He used to take her to the old Opera House cinema to watch silent films.

Mrs. Osa Collier (Sedalia)

Mrs. Osa Collier, 52, 417 West Seventh, died at Bothwell Hospital at 8:48 p.m. Wednesday. She had been a patient at the hospital for the past week.

Mrs. Collier was born in Fresno, Calif., June 6, 1912, daughter of the late John Cooper and Mrs. Ada Sapp Cooper. The family came to Missouri to the Warsaw community when she was a small child and she lived most of her life in Benton County.

She was married in 1937 to Roy Hammond. They were the parents of one daughter.

Mrs. Collier was one of a family of 11 children.

She has lived in Sedalia since 1949 and for the past 15 years has been employed at the Sedalia Cafe as cook.

She was married at Sedalia, Feb. 12, 1952, to Jesse Collier, who preceded her in death Nov. 15, 1952.

Mrs. Collier is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Lutjen, 417 West Seventh; her mother, Mrs. Ada Cooper, Kansas City; seven brothers, Virgil Cooper, Warsaw, Glenn Cooper, James Cooper, Russell Cooper and Jimmie Cooper, all of Kansas City; Manuel Cooper, Lincoln, Raymond Cooper, Muncie, Kan.; three sisters, Mrs. Juanita Summers, Higginsville, Mrs. Kathleen Mather, Kansas City, Mrs. Erma Sladd, Muncie, Kan.; three grandchildren, Cindy Ann Lutjen, Randy Dean Lutjen and Cheryl Lynn Lutjen, Sedalia.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Robert C. Boyd (Warrensburg)

Robert C. Boyd, 73, Warrensburg, died Tuesday at the Mapleawn Rest Home, Moberly. He had been in failing health three years and had been a patient at the rest home several months.

He was born, May 21, 1891, in Knob Noster, son of the late George J. and Louisa Clifford Boyd. He was married to Buena V. Wagner, Oct. 3, 1911, in Knob Noster. They lived in Knob Noster many years and then moved to Warrensburg. She preceded him in death in July, 1945.

Surviving are six sons, Robert R. and Noble V. Boyd, both of Warrensburg; the Rev. Quentin M. Boyd, Trenton; J. Dale Boyd, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Dean Boyd, Moberly; and William D. Boyd, San Gabriel, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Clyde (Beatrice) Daugherty, Pascagoula, Miss.; two brothers, George Boyd, Knob Noster; and Frank Boyd, Salem, Ore.; 14 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Warrensburg.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church in Warrensburg, with the Rev. Frank E. Myers officiating.

Burial will be in the Knob Noster Cemetery.

The body will be brought from Moberly to the church at 11 a.m. and the family will receive friends there until the funeral hour.

Railroad Hearing Resumes Saturday

KANSAS CITY (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the Frisco Railroad's proposal to abandon all its remaining passenger trains will be resumed in Oklahoma City Friday and Saturday.

Seventeen witnesses appeared in the Kansas City phase of the hearing Wednesday. Most of them opposed abandonment of passenger service.

Hearings also will be held in Memphis and Birmingham.

The Frisco still operates six pairs of passenger trains — between St. Louis and Oklahoma City, St. Louis and Memphis, Kansas City and Birmingham and Monett, Mo., and Fort Smith, Ark.

Frank Eggerman (Versailles)

Frank Eggerman, 73, Versailles, died Tuesday at the Veterans Hospital in Kansas City.

He was born in Gravois Mills in Feb. 1892, son of John Charley and Martha Kays Eggerman. He was married to Edna Williams on July 5, 1924, who survives.

Also surviving are two brothers, Willie Eggerman, Topeka, Kan.; and Marion Eggerman, Kansas City; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Landrum, Fortuna; and Mrs. Belva Kasak, Lees Summit.

He was a member of the Beulah Baptist Church, Versailles, and was a veteran of World War I and a member of the American Legion Post 104.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Kidwell Funeral Home, Versailles, with the Rev. J. L. Freeman officiating.

Burial will be in the Versailles Cemetery.

The body is at the Kidwell Funeral Home, Versailles.

James E. Wright (Warsaw)

James Earl Wright, 69, Warsaw, died early Thursday morning at his home near Warsaw, as the result of a heart attack.

He was born July 27, 1895, son of the late P. M. and Morgan Mollie Wright, near Warsaw. He was married to Reva Hicks June 27, 1919 in Warsaw. They made their home in Warsaw for a number of years, where he was associated with his father in the oil business. Later they lived in Omaha, Nebr., and Topeka, Kan., moving back to Warsaw about four years ago.

To that union, one son, Earl Mac Wright was born. Mr. Wright was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving, besides the wife of the home, are: the son, of Warsaw; one granddaughter, Gene Wright, Warsaw; one brother, Foster Wright, Omaha, Nebr.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Reser Funeral Chapel, Warsaw. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery, Warsaw.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at Reser Chapel.

Receives 'Tax Money'

BOSTON (AP) — A brown manila envelope arrived in the mail Wednesday at Mayor John F. Collins' office, containing $5,300 in small bills — plus a slip of paper saying "tax money."

Collins sent the money to the city treasurer's office for deposit in the city general fund.

Resounding Victory Won By Hearnese

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes won a resounding victory in the Missouri Senate Wednesday.

By a surprising 26-5 vote, the Senate approved the governor's proposed constitutional change to allow a governor to serve two successive four-year terms.

The measure now goes on the ballot for the voters to decide, either at the 1966 general election or a special election before then.

The Senate's action came only a few hours after Hearnese had conceded at least temporary defeat in his battle with Treasurer M. E. Morris to get new deposits for the state's interest-free demand deposits.

The governor said he accepted Atty. Gen. Norman H. Anderson's ruling that Morris could not be forced by legal action to submit a new list of banks. Any change will have to come from legislative action or a constitutional amendment, the governor concluded.

The lopsided Senate vote came after the Senate had defeated three proposed amendments, including one to let a governor serve as long as he could keep getting elected.

Sen. William B. Waters, D-Liberty, the majority floor leader, headed the opposition to changing the constitution. He made it clear he was not criticizing Hearnese but said he feared the proposal would open the door to machine rule in Missouri and one man domination of the state government.

Several of the governor's aides were in the gallery during the debate and Hearnese himself had been in the Senate corridors earlier.

It was obvious from the outset that the way had been well prepared for the proposal — the same as in the House, where it whisked through with a minimum of opposition.

One senator said he had been buttonholed by more of his constituents on the governorship succession issue than on any other problem before the legislature.

On the question of the bank depositories, Hearnese indicated he had not decided what his next step would be. He said he would study the problem and perhaps recommend to the special legislative session next year whether to tackle it through legislation or a constitutional change.

He said some change is needed to correct "this long continuing favoritism to the disadvantage of many other qualified Missouri banks."

"These banks will continue to profit as long as this situation exists," he said, "through existing contracts made before I became governor."

The state treasurer presented the same list of state depositories as his predecessor — the Central Missouri Trust Co. of Jefferson City, which Hearnese has tagged as the power center of the so-called Democratic Establishment, Mercantile Trust of St. Louis and Commerce Trust of Kansas City.

Hearnese said during 249 banking days last year, Central Trust had an average of more than $23 million a day in interest free deposits.

Claims Kansas City Denied Road Share

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Mayor Irlus W. Davis said Kansas City has been denied its fair share of Missouri's modern highways and renewed Wednesday his plea for a dual-lane, limited access expressway to Clinton, Springfield and the Ozark lakes country.

From Kansas City, Kan., the mayor said, a motorist can travel on turnpike-type highways to Ottawa, Kan., via Wichita to Oklahoma City, and a substantial part of the way to the Colorado line.

From Kansas City, Mo., he said, you can go by dual highway to St. Joseph and Excelsior Springs, and that ends it. "You cannot cross the state on a dual-lane highway. You cannot get to Des Moines, a great source of the city's trade, or to Jefferson City or Joplin on a good road."

"This lack is drawing tourists and business away from Kansas City."

Lieut. Governor's Conference Opens

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The National Conference of Lieutenant governors opens a three-day meeting today in Charleston.

Legislative reapportionment will be discussed Friday by a panel composed of Lt. Govs. John W. Brown of Ohio, Malcolm Wilson of New York and Philip Sorenson of Nebraska.

In panel discussions planned Saturday Lt. Gov. John Crutcher of Kansas and others will discuss the lieutenant governor and interstate relationships.

Police Reports

Thieves broke into the T and G Motor Co., on west U. S. Highway 50 about 1 o'clock Thursday morning and succeeded in prying open a safe cabinet to get to two cash boxes from which they obtained about $80 in currency. The robbery was discovered by Officers Newt Raines and Dave Thomas while making a routine check of west side business houses about 1:28 o'clock.

The officers noted a rear door pried open and stopped to investigate, and at the same time called for other officers to come to their aid.

A check of the building failed to reveal anyone in the place, but one of the cash boxes was found in the shop part of the building. The other was still in a drawer of the cabinet. Silver change was not taken.

The thieves also pried open two tool boxes but it was not determined if they obtained anything from them.

Police found some torn screens on the building at Hubbard Pool early Thursday morning, but no entrance was reported.

Mrs. Donald Fischer, 821 West Tenth, reported to police Wednesday that her son's red Schwinn bicycle was stolen from their backyard either Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Police reported that two rear windows had been broken out of the Hubbard swimming pool building Wednesday. Two juvenile-aged boys were picked up and turned over to Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn.

L. R. Black, park superintendent, reported to police that someone had been vandalizing playground equipment at Centennial Park sometime in the last several days.

Accidents

One person received injuries in a one-car accident on North U. S. Highway 65 about 10:15 o'clock when the vehicle went off a 15 foot embankment as the driver tried to push a sleepy passenger off of his shoulder.

Injured was Russell L. Green, 21, of Jusdon, Ind., who suffered a broken nose and laceration of the chin. He was taken to the Bothwell Hospital where Dr. J. W. Maunders treated him after which he was released from the hospital.

The car, a 1964 Chevrolet was being driven south on the highway by Robert Bonwell, 21, of Crawfordville, Ind. Bonwell reported to Trooper Pete Stohr of the State Highway Patrol, that Green was asleep and fell over on him. He said when he attempted to push Green over, he lost control of the automobile and it went off the highway.

A wrecker from Bacon's Service Station towed the car to Sedalia.

One car was damaged in a two-car accident on the parking lot of the Holiday Inn Motel at 2:37 p.m. Wednesday.

A 1957 Ford, driven by Hattie L. Goodwin, 26, 736 West Cooper, was going east on the parking lot on the north side of the building. A 1957 Plymouth, driven by Fred G. Dillon, 69, Route 2, was parked on the north side of the building, and in proceeding to back out, backed into the Goodwin car.

Minor damage resulted to both vehicles.

Fires In City

Grease in a deep fryer touched off a fire at the Lloyd Phillips residence, 1710 West 11th, which resulted in $150 damage at 10:35 a.m. Thursday.

Firemen used a dry chemical to douse the blaze. Damage was listed at $125 to the home and $25 to contents.

Firemen were summoned to the Charles Garver residence, 312 North Grand, at 1:17 p.m. Wednesday when it was reported that a television antenna had fallen across some light wires.

The Missouri Public Service Company was notified and took the antenna off the wires.

Police Court

James Robert Hall, 1621 South Ingram, charged with making an illegal left turn, forfeited a $5 bond.

Kenneth Barr, 2405 West 11th, charged with running a stop sign, forfeited a $5 bond.

Cleo Casdorph, 1305 North Grand, charged with making a loud and unnecessary noise with a motor vehicle, pleaded innocent and after a hearing the case was dismissed.

Larry Hicks, 251 East Saline, charged with destruction of city property, pleaded guilty and was given a 30-day jail sentence suspended on condition of good behavior.

Charles Ratje, 500 South Engineer, charged with disturbing the peace on complaint of Dorothy Norwood, pleaded innocent, but after a hearing was found guilty and fined $50.

Johnny E. Lyles, 703 West Pettis, charged with double parking, forfeited a $2 bond.

Rev. Richard Kalaf, 421 West Third, charged with parking on the wrong side of the street, forfeited a $2 bond.

The case of James (Mike) Green, 1020 South New York, charged with disturbing the peace on complaint of Brenda Green, was dismissed on request of the complaining witness.

Sheriff Report

Joseph Lionel Bohon, 1722 South Grand, was picked up by Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, Wednesday afternoon, on a warrant charging him with uttering a forged check. Bohon was placed in the county jail.

Circuit Court

A Cross Timbers man charged with failure to yield the right of way in connection with a fatal auto accident has had his case transferred from Magistrate Court to Circuit Court on a change of venue alleging that he would be unable to receive a fair trial in the lower court.

The change of venue was filed Wednesday in Circuit Court in behalf of Melvin Leroy Kugler, 22, the driver of a sedan which was in collision with a Kansas Citian's car March 12 at the intersection of Routes 127 and Y, 12 miles west of Sedalia.

Mrs. Loritta Shull, 53, Kansas

Object of Scorn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., said today if corporations operated like Congress "the oldest janitors would be running the show."

Udall made the remark in testimony prepared for a Senate House committee studying congressional reorganization.

CATV franchise applications until appropriate regulatory jurisdiction is established. The resolution also notes that suits are now pending involving alleged infringement by CATV systems of the rights of copyright owners of program material.

"A question exists as to whether franchising of such systems might expose city governments to liability for such infringements," the resolution says.

TESA's resolution also charges CATV menaces the survival of many TV stations and makes it difficult or impossible to construct new stations, particularly UHF stations.

The group headed by Knight is circulating petitions calling for a vote of the people on whether or not a CATV license should be granted here.

Ionia

cery operated by Orville Wells, and notified him. When they arrived at the bank there was a heavy odor of smoke created by the use of torches. Miss Rosella Schnakenberg, cashier of the bank was notified and upon her arrival, she in turn called the bank president, Jack C. Wells, at his home in Springfield and he drove to Ionia immediately.

Sheriff Lawrence Phifer, of Benton County, was notified and arrived at the bank about 7 o'clock. The Sheriff blocked off an area at the rear of the bank and the room in which the robbers worked until the FBI representatives arrived, to protect any evidence that might still be present.

President Wells and Orville Wells are brothers.

Wells, when asked how much money the thieves might have made away with, he laughingly remarked, "If they got it out of the round vault, they could make a sizeable contribution to the church and still have plenty left." He explained a close check would have to be made to determine the exact amount, and said it was all covered by insurance.

"Until the agents can complete their investigation we will be closed through the day, but expect to be open for business as usual Friday," Wells commented.

A walk-in safe at the front of the building was not disturbed by the safe crackers.

An old pickup truck belonging to the MFA Implement Co. at Lincoln was found parked off of Route P leading into Ionia from Highway 65, facing to the east. Sheriff Phifer said it was possible the truck might have been used in the robbery. The truck was reported stolen in Lincoln, Wednesday night.

The truck is being checked for fingerprints and will get a close "going over" by the agents to determine if the thieves might have used it.

Entrance to the bank was gained through a rear window which had been pried open. It was thought the thieves had their acetylene tanks in a vehicle parked at the rear of the bank and carried lines from them through the window to the safe and vault for their work.

The bank is located on a corner, across the street to the south is an old store building which is being razed, and there was little chance of seeing anyone working inside the bank or notice anything in back of it.

The Ionia Bank, established about 1905, has been visited by safecrackers before and holdup men. Recollection of some of the residents were to the effect that in 1931 holdup men robbed the bank and escaped in a car while another man in the rear seat of the vehicle threw nails out on the roadway to keep pursuers from catching them, hoping the nails would provide pursuers "flat tires."

Another instance, it was reported, the exact date not recalled, that an attempt was to be made by thieves who planned to use a cutting torch, but were scared away leaving their tools in the bank. Then in 1951 on Dec. 3, a lone man held up Miss Schnakenberg, and made away with a small amount of money. He was later apprehended near Georgetown by the State Highway Patrol, Trooper Pete Stohr and the late Sgt. S. S. Abney.

Miss Schnakenberg recalled the incident clearly when the young man walked into the bank, tried to make a loan then demanded $500 remarking: "That's all I need," then departed.

City, was killed in the crash. She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, George.

Excess Tax Levy

Presiding Judge C. Berry Elliott of the County Court pointed out today the 35-cent tax levy approved by the Houstonia Special Road District voters Tuesday was in excess of the county's 35-cent road levy.

The county's road levy was incorrectly listed as 40 cents per $100 valuation in the newspaper.

Jury

ficer to testify, made the arrest of Mrs. Rahm after Stohr had radioed information to him reporting that the radar unit showed a speed of 77 m.p.h. for her auto.

In her testimony, however, Mrs. Rahm maintained she was not exceeding 55 m.p.h. She said she looked at her speedometer and it was registering 52 or 53 m.p.h. and that due to a faulty transmission in her auto the machine "shimmied violently" at approximately 55 m.p.h.

She also testified her speedometer had been checked for accuracy against the car of a Knob Noster deputy sheriff a few days after the arrest and that it was functioning accurately. Under cross-examination by Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz she identified the deputy sheriff as Keith Berry and said the test was conducted on Highway 50 near Montserrat with the deputy's auto traveling behind hers.

At noon Judge Blair recessed the trial until 1:15 p.m. The jury is composed entirely of men: S. J. Timbrious, John Witcher, E. B. Cook, Clyde Swafford, Walton Berry, Forrest Rice, J. D. Nichols, C. M. Bratton, Steven McClure, Fred Schenk, W. F. Rife and Glenn Miller.

Mrs. Rahm was found guilty July 25, 1963, in Magistrate Court here by Judge Frank Armstrong and fined $25 plus court costs — a standard fine for such an offense in Armstrong's court. She was represented at that hearing by her husband, James A. Rahm, a Warrensburg attorney, and he immediately filed appeal.

Rahm, however, was not present in the courtroom this morning and Mrs. Rahm is being represented by Will Berry, a Versailles attorney.

the general chairman, Damon Hieronymus, and stated that congratulations were in order to the State Fair Shopping Center which is having its grand opening.

Bob Cain, Cash Hardware, who has a store in the new center in addition to his store downtown, is president of the State Fair Shopping Center Association, and expressed appreciation for Dugan's congratulations and pledges of cooperation from the Downtown Association, adding that the State Fair Association also planned to work hand and glove with the Downtown Association, for all had the same interest in making Sedalia a better town.

Dugan also read a letter of appreciation from Harlan Snow, for the work done by the Downtown Association members in behalf of the recent Fire Bond election.

A. W. Haller was asked to report on bills coming up in the state legislature and stated he was only familiar with the gross receipts tax, and explained the bill saying "it would cause a lot of trouble."

Philip McLaughlin was called upon and pointed out that the gross receipts tax bill was not needed now because the bracket tax bill had been passed. He urged merchants "to guard against bills that were too much against business and to protest their passage."

Total Ban On Poll Tax Is Cheered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approval by the House Judiciary Committee of a right-to-vote bill that includes a total ban on poll taxes as a voting requirement in any election cheered congressional liberals today.

The committee acted Wednesday after rejecting, 19 to 13, an attempt to substitute the administration's compromise poll-tax approach accepted Tuesday by the Senate.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., 77, the committee chairman, led the fight against the administration amendment and carried most Northern Democrats with him.

Celler said the committee's voice-vote approval of the bill was overwhelming. He called it a good bill and predicted acceptance by the House.

As finally approved, the committee voted to recommend passage of administration provisions to suspend literacy tests and authorize federal voter registration in much of the South.

"I think a bill of this character is epoch making," Celler said. "It's a tough bill."

In the Senate, a new and unsuccessful effort to limit debate caused concern and drew a tongue-in-cheek prediction from Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Mindful that 67 amendments remain to be considered by the word-weary senators, Dirksen ventured that before the measure is finally acted upon: "We will commune with the Halloween witches, eat our Thanksgiving turkey and trim our Christmas trees here."

The Senate refused Tuesday, by a four-vote margin, to accept an outright ban on poll taxes. Four states — Texas, Virginia, Mississippi and Alabama — require their voters to pay the taxes in state and local elections. The federal poll tax was outlawed by the 24th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The Senate-approved administration compromise would enable the attorney general to go into federal court with a finding by Congress that there is evidence that the poll tax has been used to discriminate.

Wednesday, the Senate turned down an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to let federal courts in the South rule on state efforts to escape the terms of the voting-rights bill. The vote to reject was 62 to 28.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield failed in his effort to limit the time for considering the 67 pending amendments when Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., blocked the unanimous consent required.

Everybody Takes a Bow

Economy Continues Record Expansion for Peacetime

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Right about now the American economy is chalking up a record for peacetime expansion. And there are quite a few people busy taking bows: government economists and planners, money managers, businessmen, consumers.

It's in the middle of the month that the government takes many important business soundings — industrial production, employment and unemployment, length of the working week, average factory take-home pay, personal incomes, and the like.

And all signs point to May making the grade as the 51st month of growth without major interruption. This tops the old peacetime mark of 50 months set in the 1930s when the economy was recovering from the depths of the Great Depression.

In this middle of May, available signs from weekly reports of key industries and retail trade indicate that the economy as a whole is still on the upgrade. How fast the pace will be determined when the statistics are published a month hence.

The question right now is: What has made this record expansion possible and kept it from lagging?

Business takes a bow on the grounds that by and large it has avoided the excesses that have spelled trouble in past cyclical upswings.

It has expanded its plants and invested in new equipment, but with caution that so far has built up little, if any, excess productive capacity.

Corporations are building up inventories, but this time the increase in stocks is pretty well in line with the gain in sales volume and consumer demand. And most corporations have been able to finance their growth without excess borrowing or securities flotations.

Consumers can take a bow, too. They haven't panicked at disturbing international news.

Nonfat Dry Milk

Instant nonfat dry milk is fresh pasteurized milk from which only the fat and water have been removed. It contains all of the B vitamins, protein, calcium, and phosphorus of the whole milk. Instant nonfat dry milk is one of the least expensive, yet most concentrated sources of protein, calcium, and phosphorus. Instant nonfat dry milk gives the potatoes the exact milk taste of the least expensive dry milk. It takes little per serving. Either whip buttercup board space and no precious refrigerator space.

Less expensive than fluid or evaporated milk, nonfat dry milk stores easily and is available in most any market. Usually the larger sized containers are less expensive per reconstituted quart. If smaller packages are more easily stored, they may be the most satisfactory buy. Nonfat dry milk is also available in premeasured packages. Dry milk is convenient and economical — and there is no waste.

Keep dry milk in a tightly covered container in a dry place. Nonfat dry milk can be kept at room temperature for several months. When reconstituted, store in the refrigerator just as you would fresh milk.

Generally, for one cup of fluid skim milk, use one-third cup of nonfat dry milk to 2/3 cup of water. For drinking, the flavor seems to be improved if the reconstituted milk is thoroughly chilled before serving. For detailed information, refer to University of Missouri Extension bulletin "Using Nonfat Dry Milk in Home Prepared Foods."

This bulletin is available at your local University Extension Center, 605 South Massachusetts.

Nonfat dry milk is easy to measure, dissolves instantly, and may be added to many recipes in the dry form, or may be reconstituted to use as a beverage or a whipped topping. It's a good buy this year. Plan to use them frequently at outdoor barbecues and picnics.

June marketings of broiler-fryers are expected to exceed those of a year ago. And in 1964, prices were next to the lowest on record for that month. So expect broiler-fryers to be a good buy this year. Plan to use them frequently at outdoor barbecues and picnics.

An Exhaust Can Be Deadly

Since Missouri is not going to have compulsory motor vehicle inspection because legislators decided against it, voluntary compliance with safety requirements must be stressed more often.

One common defect in automobiles relates to the exhaust system which is frequently neglected even though the owner smells fumes. Having exhaust pipes replaced may be expensive, but is much less than the price of a funeral.

The driver and his passengers are lucky if they detect an odor because there can be leakage into the car of an odorless, tasteless and invisible gas — deadly carbon monoxide. It can reduce a driver's reaction and lessen his driving ability long before he is aware of it.

The season is here when motorists with air conditioning equipment close a vehicle's windows tightly. This, indeed, is a mistake that may result in a serious accident an alarming number of which have been related to faulty exhaust systems. Voluntary safety checks by the Missouri Highway Patrol substantiate the fact that motorists either consciously or unconsciously neglect this unsafe condition of their vehicles.

We've had a little trouble in this category ourselves, neglecting it beyond a reasonable time on the theory that keeping windows open wide would neutralize the fumes. Now we have the defect fixed, we hope.

How many others delay repairs? In case they are going to be stubborn about it, here are a few tips to guard against carbon monoxide poisoning:

Exhaust gasses can be sucked into station wagons that are driven with all windows closed except the rear one. Ventilation should be provided by small opening of a window or vent when using air conditioning. When you stop a car with engine running at a traffic light or parking place, roll down the windows. Watch for the first symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning which are tightness across the forehead, headaches, throbbing at temples and dizziness. Stop and get into the open air if you suspect anything wrong.

Many other safety checks are necessary for a motor vehicle. Since these must be made voluntarily, the better part of prudence for safe driving this summer is to get with the repair job as soon as possible.

According to an official report, there are now 12 million motor vehicles in Great Britain and 200,000 miles of road. Theoretically, every vehicle could be on the road at the same time with about 30 yards between each one.

In practice, though, if British drivers are like those on this side of the Atlantic, those 30 yards would be packed solidly with other cars trying to pass each other.

Of course, all the cars are never on the road at the same time. It just seems that way.

Oil Companies Eager for Vast Reserves

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Fifteen hundred dollars is riding on a Senate committee hearing this week for every bus driver, bootblack, broker and banker in the U.S. On the outcome of these Senate hearings will partly depend the disposition of the U.S. government property worth $300 billion—enough to pay off the national debt. Or, if divided among 200 million Americans, it would mean a bonus of $1,500 apiece.

The property in question is the vast five million acres of government-owned oil shale land in Colorado, Wyoming, and Eastern Utah. It's estimated that it contains two trillion barrels of oil, and this bonanza is now the subject of intense backstage wire-pulling on the part of the big oil companies and the protectors of the public.

Lyndon Johnson probably doesn't know it, being busy with the Dominican Republic, Viet Nam, and other problems, but he is being quoted backstage as favoring his old friends the oil companies in the disposition of this hidden treasure.

In a previous Republican administration—Hoover's—Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur withdrew the shale oil lands from private leasing. At that time the market was glutted with domestic oil and not much was known about how to develop shale oil.

But with the end of other oil resources in the U.S.A. now foreseeable, shale oil has become the most important undeveloped resource in the United States.

Furthermore, it now appears possible to develop it by leaving the surface of the land undisturbed, and through the "in situ" process, burn the shale underground, per-

WINDSOR (Ont.) STAR: Work Climate.—West Germany has a shortage of workers and this creates a problem for industry. If a worker doesn't like his job, or the company for which he works, he can go elsewhere.

Various industries have been studying how to cope with this; how to keep their workers content. Results show that wages aren't the entire answer, or even the first answer.

Research in one of the largest industries put these factors in order: (1) Security of position; (2) treatment by superiors; (3) pay; (4) chances for promotion.

Thus in advertisements for workers, more and more firms are using the word "betriebsklima." Freely translated it means "work climate." They are trying to get across the idea that their industries provide pleasant working conditions.

Dads Are Younger

American dads are getting younger and younger. That, is they're becoming dads at an earlier age than previous generations.

An analysis by the Institute of Life Insurance of vital statistics from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare reveals that younger men are fathering more and more babies. At the same time, older men are fathering fewer.

In 1940, for example, the average number of births per 1,000 men aged 15 to 19 was 7.5. In 1962 that figure had almost tripled to 21. But for each 1,000 men in the 45-49 age bracket, the figure decreased from 19.7 in 1940 to only 15 in 1962.

The word "men" is used advisedly in the first instance, for if there is anything that will turn a teen-ager into a man right quickly, it's the responsibility of parenthood.

Liquid gas for rural use is a by-product of petroleum.

haps through nuclear energy, thereby distilling oil from shale.

Old Mining Law

So far, private oil companies have acquired 168,000 acres in the Wyoming, Colorado, Utah area as against the government's 5,000,000 acres. But they are now trying to horn in on government land by means of an archaic mining law passed in 1872 which permits private companies to obtain mining patents on government land for only $2.50 an acre. Oil shale land today is actually selling for $2,000 an acre. Yet private companies are now trying to get patent rights for $2.50 an acre.

Inside the Interior Department, Assistant Secretary John Kelly, a Texas oilman appointed by President Kennedy, is plugging for the oil companies. Lined up with him privately is Under Secretary John A. Carver.

Kelly and Carver argue that the oil companies can develop the lands more rapidly than the government, that industry can work out the new process of distilling oil underground.

On the other side is Frank Barry, Interior Department solicitor, a staunch battler for the public interest.

President Johnson has delegated oil policy matters to Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall, but eventually Johnson is going to have to step in and decide between his old friends and the public. As an ex-school teacher and a great booster for education, he has a chance to do as much for education with these oil lands as Abraham Lincoln did for the land grant colleges when he gave every other section of public land in the west for the development of state colleges.

American Tycoons Battle Hecklers

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Wilma Soss was lugged bodily out of the Communications Satellite Corp. stockholders meeting Tuesday — screaming, protesting and waving at the cameras — some kind of an era ended.

Or maybe an era began.

The tycoons of American industry seem to be fighting back, after years of being harassed by small groups of perennial hecklers.

Across the land, board chairmen have taken a brace. Many are firmly insisting, for instance, that stockholders talk about the corporate business under discussion. And that they wait for their turn speak. And that they let other stockholders get a word in edgewise.

For the board chairman, this takes some kind of courage. His company's "stockholder relations" are as important as its public relations. Every management wants to be considered kind, attentive and responsive to questions and complaints, even if the complainer owns only one share.

The little stockholder, in short, has a mighty voice. But managements and rank and file stockholders have been showing irritation when, year after year, at every annual meeting of every big company, the loudest voices are also nonstop, out of order, irrelevant and sometimes augmented by tin horns and whistles.

Seven months ago investment banker Sidney J. Weinberg decided it was time to speak up. (It's fairly safe for him now; at 73 he holds only five major directorships, having resigned 20 or 30.) He made a speech to about 100 corporation chairmen and presidents at the Business Council meeting in Hot Springs, Va.

"The chief cause of this deterioration, in my opinion, are a relatively few publicity-seeking characters who attend stockholders' meetings primarily to ask impertinent, irrelevant, sometimes abusive questions," Weinberg said.

"I think this kind of behavior must be stopped right now before stockholders lose respect for management."

The notoriety won by some hecklers, he said, has encouraged newcomers to take up the hobby.

Today, Weinberg reports, a good many board chairmen are firmly squelching the disorderly. Meetings have regained some decorum. "The situation is much improved," he says.

Indeed, even Mrs. Soss, the oft-heard voice of the Federation of Women Stockholders in American Business and such other noted meeting-goers as Lewis Gilbert and Evelyn Davis have met some setbacks lately. Last September, at Comsat's first annual meeting, Gilbert, Mrs. Soss and horn-tooting Mrs. Davis squabbled with each other for the floor, shouted when their microphones were cut off and incensed 1,500 other stockholders to the point of booing, jeering and clapping to drown them out.

They helped prolong the meeting for nine hours, and were still there when most other shareholders had given up and gone home.

On Tuesday, blue-uniformed Pinkerton special police were much in evidence at Comsat's second stockholders' meeting. When Mrs. Soss' first speech was ruled out of order, setting off a clamor by Gilbert and Mrs. Davis, the Pinkertons moved in.

When Mrs. Soss declined to leave under her own power, a husky Pinkerton picked her up and carried her down the aisle and out the door. Two Pinkertons propelled Gilbert out the same exit.

GIRLS—Recently we published a hint from Elizabeth concerning the way she cleaned her percolator basket. As a footnote I suggested that the coffee grounds be emptied into something other than the sink so they would not clog the drain. This was advice from a plumber. An avalanche of letters came from readers saying they did it all the time. One of the girls had called her plumber to check and he said the grounds would keep the drain clean. We proceeded to call several plumbers for their opinions. Four out of five said NOT to flush the grounds down the drain and the one who agreed that it was all right qualified his answer by saying never to put coffee grounds down the drain if one had a septic tank. There are differences of opinion even among the experts. — POLLY

A Trick of Self-Spite

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My son's teacher says he may not be able to do 8th grade work next year without summer tutoring. She says he is a bright child but a poor achiever.

I am sure that this is my husband's fault and that Al could do much better school work if his father didn't yell at him whenever a mark goes down. I haven't told him that Al will need tutoring because I know what a blasting the child will get. . . .

Answer: I am sorry you're so frightened of your husband.

If you weren't, you might be able to convince him that we don't persuade children to do good school work by raging at them. All we do is to make it impossible for them to want to please us. Our raging at them makes them so angry at us that they begin to equate school effort with submission to us. Digging in their heels, they express their resistance to us by resisting school work.

Children do use poor school work to anger a parent who has angered them by trying to bully them into doing good school work.

To free them from their confusion, we have to be pretty clear ourselves on this self-spit-ing trick of anger. We have to see that our bright child who wants to do good school work is unable to do it because his resented father wants the same thing. Then we may be able to disconnect what his resented father wants from what he wants. His brightness may come to his rescue so that he says, "You mean I'm so mad at daddy that I can't study because he wants me to? But if I stop thinking about what he wants and think about what I want, I can study. Is that what you mean?"

However, very bright children can also be very angry children — so angry that retaliation on us becomes more important than serving their own wishes to study. Then, if we're bright, too, we get them some sessions with a psychiatrist who, after helping them blow the obscuring steam of anger, makes clear to them their own wish to study. Maybe Al could use a few lessons.

Meanwhile, try to appreciate your husband's anger at Al's poor school work. His method is mistaken but getting that better work is what you all want, isn't it? It's sad that you're all so frightened of each other that you can't see the sameness of what you want. Maybe if you could find a little appreciation of the meaning of your husband's anger, the sameness of what you all want could be admitted. Then the psychiatric sessions could be forgotten and their cost could be ungrudgingly diverted to Al's summer tutoring.

THE DOCTOR SAYS
Fewer House Calls Give Patient Better ServiceBy Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

Many of my readers complain that most doctors no longer make house calls. We should examine some of the reasons for this.

I can illustrate one aspect by recalling a call to "come quickly, please hurry" to attend a girl who had received a cut on her ankle on the school hockey field. When I arrived I found that this girl had a moderately bleeding wound that needed a few stitches.

The coach had already applied a pressure bandage, which was fine, but the playing field was no place to sew up a wound. We took the girl to my office where everything was at hand. In this case my trip to the patient accomplished nothing. The girl should have been taken to a hospital emergency room or to my office without delay.

Your doctor today can make a much more accurate diagnosis of your condition and can apply much more effective treatment than was the case 20 years ago. This is in part the result of a variety of tests that cannot be made at your home. Although there are still a few instances in which a house call may be justified, they are not nearly so common as they were in the days when all your doctor could do was to take your temperature, feel your pulse and give you the comfort of his sympathetic presence in addition to a few pills to relieve your pain.

Today's doctor believes that if you are not too sick to get to his office, he can serve you better there than in your home. If you are too sick, you should be bundled up and taken to the hospital either in the family car or by ambulance. This often saves time for both doctor and patient and results in a more speedy and accurate diagnosis and more effective treatment.

We doctors may have lost some of the suave bedside manner of the "good old days," but as patients you have gained a better chance for a speedy recovery.

Strangeness Of Viet War Discovered By Columnist

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — An open letter home: Dear Frances and Tracy:

I knew there was something strange about this war that made it different from other wars, and at last I have figured out what it is.

So far nobody over here has asked me for chewing gum, chocolate or a bar of soap. That never happened to me in any previous war. It is almost enough to make a fellow lose faith in the American way.

The kids here think chewing gum is strictly for the troops. What they beg for — even those only 6 or 7 — is cigarettes. They are friendly and quite lovable except for a bad habit of trying to steal your wrist watch as you walk along.

Vietnamese girls have the reputation of being the fairest in the entire orient. They are slender, delicate-featured, and as graceful as little princesses in their bearing. Dressed in their native garb, they are as pretty as walking flowers.

So far I have not seen an enemy soldier, a distinction which I would just as soon keep for some time. My main battles have been with antique French plumbing and various forms of insect life that inhabit my hotel room but don't pay rent.

When I try to turn on a water faucet, it comes off in my hands. When I try to take a shower, nothing comes out but a torrent of rust. And when I tried to use another bathroom fixture it collapsed completely, and an overhead pipe fell and nearly brained me.

As to the insects, I am beginning to think I should have studied entomology instead of journalism. This morning I counted 87 assorted bites of all kinds on me, and went out and bought a mosquito net.

The room boys then held a union meeting and decided that putting it up was a two-day job for three men. This was my first experience with Oriental featherbedding. But the philosophy in this area seems to be "anything worth doing today is even more worth doing the day after tomorrow."

As I write you this, a bug about half the size of an armored carrier is crawling slowly across the floor toward my bed. I think he wants to take a siesta.

I know I should put up a fight, but frankly I don't think this beetle could be stopped with anything smaller than a 50-caliber machine gun. So I'm going to abandon the field of battle temporarily until I can get some outside help. For all I know, this bug could be a Viet Cong in disguise.

the coveralls, strap the overalls and pin the overall straps down inside and turn both inside out before washing. I know my dryer will last longer this time and I feel sure the washer will also last longer. Hope others profit by my mistake. — MRS. R. N. J.

The 'Sleepy' TV Season Has Arrived

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television's sleepy season arrived Tuesday night with a traditional harbinger — the premier of what the publicists call a "summer series," and the trade calls a "package deal."

To viewers with long memories, NBC's "Cloak of Mystery" was an old package in a new wrapping. It was a half-hour program starring Simone Signoret and Lee Marvin which this viewer remembers vaguely from five seasons back.

Non-memorable dramatic entertainment is quickly forgotten and this little suspense tale was a frail bark when new. However, it is always interesting to watch Miss Signoret.

Within a couple of weeks, most evening television will consist of reruns from the past season and other seasons before that. These oft-told tales pop up like dandelions in warm weather because it is less expensive to make 30-odd episodes a year than 52 and because people are reputed to watch less television when the outdoors call.

NBC's Telephone Hour Tuesday night reworked a serviceable device — a salute to Tin Pan Alley. It was a fine excuse to play a lot of familiar old songs and to wind up with the inevitable "There's No Business Like Show Business" at the end of a tribute to Irving Berlin on his 77th birthday.

On hand were Hoagy Carmichael, who played "Stardust," Carol Lawrence, Gordon MacRae, and Leslie Uggams. With so much talent and such unbeatable songs, it was a fast-moving 60 minutes.

NBC's "Tonight Show" with Johnny Carson now has competition which might give the established late evening program some trouble. The new "Merv Griffin Show" launched Monday night on a syndicated basis in almost every detail is similar to Griffin's one-time variety hour on NBC's daytime schedule, which was a very fine program indeed.

Tigers One Step Nearer State Championship Play

By Ronnie Cowan

The Smith-Cotton Tigers ascended one more rung of the ladder to the State Championship playoffs by eking out a 2-0 victory over the Lebanon squad, Wednesday afternoon at Liberty Park Stadium.

Possessing an unblemished 16-0 slate before yesterday's game, the visitors collected as many hits as the Tigers, but Smith-Cotton made their base raps count.

The first Tiger run crossed the plate in the second inning when cleanup batter, Butch Rozier, led off with a single. A passed ball, for which the catcher was charged with an error, saw Rozier dash safely to second base. Barry Morton came to bat and laid down a bunt as Rozier started for third base and when catcher McVay picked it up and made a bad throw to third base, it was what Rozier was looking for. Rozier circled third and went across home plate for the first score.

Another run was tallied in the sixth inning. This time Gary Cornell did the honors after he was walked. He went to second on a wild pitch. Safe at third on a fielder's choice, then scored on a wild pitch, then scored on a wild pitch.

Another passed ball, charged to Lebanon's Whittaker, sent Cornell scurrying home.

Jim Johnson took the win for the Tigers and went the distance in doing so. He allowed four hits in striking out seven batters and walking three.

Currently 17-6 for the season, the Tigers will try to improve that mark when they travel to Concordia to battle the Jays of St. Paul's High School.

Next Monday, the team will continue their State Tournament hopes when they journey to Springfield to take on the Glendale club. The Tigers faced Glendale once before in the season and bowed to them by the score of 7 to 5 after the locals blew a four-run lead.

Glendale defeated the Joplin Eagles to advance to this game with Sedalia. Sedalia split with the Eagles in an earlier double-header, so the two teams could be considered virtually an even match.

MU, Iowa State Top Statistics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Missouri and Iowa State, the top two contenders in Big Eight baseball dominate most of the individual and team statistics except for Kansas State's Stu Steele, the new batting leader at .488.

Bob Robben of Missouri dropped to second place at .482, with defending champ Steve McGreevy of Kansas next with .434. Both Dan Rudanovich of Missouri and Tony Sellari of Oklahoma State are batting .400.

Missouri has three other hitters among the leaders, with Gene Stephenson at .342, Jim

Myers Back On Pro Mat Trail Again

Sonny Myers is back on the wrestling trail after a hospital bout that threatened to put him out of the running for the remainder of the season.

The tall, muscular St. Joseph heavyweight will swing back into action here Tuesday night when he joins Ronnie Reed as a partner in the heavyweight team feature. Matches are set at Convention Hall.

Two weeks ago, Myers developed a leg boil, an affliction that is the scourge of professional wrestlers. The boil became infected and Myers developed other complications that put him out of commission for over 10 days.

Now fully healed, he's expected to be at peak form as he sides with Reed against the powerful Stomper and the Red Raider.

A jolting pairing is expected when the four have at it. The Stomper is big and rugged and so is his partner. The Myers-Reed combo will match their foes' power offense with some fancy wrestling geared to the speed both have in abundance.

Tuesday's card will also be enlivened by the appearance of Claude Patterson, hefty Negro heavyweight who is fast gaining ground in the area ratings scramble. Patterson will match his brawn and fleetness against the rough and tumble style of Ray Duran, who'll be making his first start here.

The Stomper will get a second crack at his longtime rival Reed when the two battle in a separate event. Reed now wears the Central States crown the Stomper once held.

Also set is a showdown between Myers and the Red Raider.

Smith-Cotton defeated Marshall, 8-6, in girls and boys matches there Wednesday.

In boys singles, Rodney Robertson, S.C., defeated Mike Tuck, 7-5, 6-3. Bill Bunn, S.C., lost to Richard Ravenhill, 6-0, 6-0. John Wright defeated Doug Dickman, S.C., 6-3, 8-6. Allen Mark, S.C., lost to Rodney Ravenhill, 6-4, 6-3. Steve Parker, S.C. went down to Miller, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

In doubles play, Robertson and Dickman, S.C., won over Larue and DeMoss, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3. Tuck and Richard Ravenhill won over Mark and Parker, S.C., 6-1, 6-4.

In girls singles action, McClellan defeated Janice Goodnight, S.C., 6-2, 6-1. Ann Durlay, S.C., downed Ross, 6-2, 6-0. Monahan won over Lou Ann Lange, S.C., 6-3, 6-4. Paula Edwards, S.C., won over Cunningham, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

In doubles play, Linda Woolery and Susan Lake, S.C., won over Weeks and Boyd, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Lange and Edwards, S.C., were defeated by Ross and Durlay, S.C., won over Ross and McClellan, 6-4, 7-5.

This was the last meet of the season for the Tiger tennis teams. The boys finished with a 5-5 record.

Torre Holds Fat Average With Bats

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of years ago the only thing slim about Joe Torre was his chances of making the majors.

Now, however, the only thing fat about the Milwaukee catcher is his batting average and the offer the Braves turned down for his services.

Torre lifted his average to .347 Wednesday night with a homer and a single, helping Milwaukee to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh while continuing to show why the Braves refused the New York Mets' offer to buy him for $500,000.

As a teen-ager with his eyes on the majors, Torre was in jeopardy of being overlooked by major league scouts, which would have been quite an accomplishment since he weighed 240 pounds and lacked speed.

Speed of foot still isn't Torre's main dish, but it's hard to fault a guy who trimmed his weight to 205 and last season lifted his average to .321 with 20 homers and 109 runs batted in. And this year's current .347 average goes along with seven homers and 14 RBIs.

While Torre was continuing his heavy hitting, Ron Santo belted a homer and two singles in the Chicago Cubs' 7-3 walloping of San Francisco. Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 4-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Houston 4-2 and the New York Mets downed St. Louis 2-1.

Torre hit his homer in the fourth inning against the Pirates, pulling the Braves into a 2-2 tie they cracked with a three-run seventh-inning uprising.

Santo was the big gun for the Cubs, rapping three of the five Chicago hits off Giant ace Juan Marichal in the seven innings he worked. Marichal lost his third game against five victories as San Francisco committed four errors behind him.

The Reds broke through against the Phillies, who had tied the score 2-2 on Richie Allen's homer, with a two-run seventh-inning comeback triggered by Tommy Harper's triple. A walk to Frank Robinson, Gordie Coleman's sacrifice fly and a double by Deron Johnson wrapped it up. Sammy Ellis got the victory for a 5-0 record with Jim O'Toole's relief help.

Don Drysdale limited the Astros to six hits, including Walt Bond's homer in the ninth, while Ron Fairly provided the decisive blow for the Dodgers with a two-run single in the third inning that broke a 1-1 tie. Jim Lefebvre chipped in with a homer for Los Angeles.

Jack Fisher checked the Cardinals on five hits and outdueling Curt Simmons for the Mets' triumph. Simmons absorbed his fourth loss in five decisions when Ron Swoboda walked in the seventh inning and scored on a double by Bobby Klaus. The Cardinals had pulled into a tie in their half on Boyer's homer.

Sonny Banks Dies Of Head Injuries

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Detroit heavyweight boxer Lucien (Sonny) Banks died today from a head injury. He was knocked out Monday night in the ninth round of a fight with Leotis Martin of Philadelphia.

Banks, 24, regained consciousness after the fight, but then lapsed into unconsciousness again and was rushed to Presbyterian Hospital.

Brain surgery was performed Tuesday morning to remove a blood clot and the 207-pound fighter had been in a coma ever since.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Heavyweight boxer Lucien (Sonny) Banks, of Detroit, died early Thursday of brain injuries received Monday when he was knocked out in a feature bout. The 24-year-old fighter had been unconscious, except for a brief period following the bout, since the knockout by Leotis Martin in the ninth round of their fight (UPI Telephoto).

Banks' younger brother, Jimmy, had come to Philadelphia from Detroit. Two other brothers and his parents, who live in Tupelo, Miss., survive.

Dr. Robert S. Andre, a Philadelphia neurosurgeon who performed the operation, ruled out the finishing punch as a direct cause of the subdural hematoma, or clot, in Banks' brain. He said the injury looked as though the boxer had been in an auto crash.

Killebrew Again Beats The Angels

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

That was no pop-gun Harmon Killebrew used on the Angels the second time around.

The Minnesota slugger beat Los Angeles 4-3 Wednesday night with his second home run of the game, a 450-foot, two-run shot in the eighth inning. The night before he had given the Twins a 3-2 victory over the Angels by caroming a drive off pitcher Dean Chance's leg in the ninth to send home the winning run.

The victory, fifth straight for the Twins and 16th in 23 starts this year, kept them in first place in the young American League race, one-half game ahead of the Chicago White Sox, who swept a two-night double-header from Kansas City 7-4 and 6-4. Boston blanked the New York Yankees 2-0. Detroit topped Washington 5-2 and Baltimore beat Cleveland 4-2 in other night action.

Killebrew's decisive homer off Angel reliever Bob Lee cleared the center-field fence, scored Frank Koster, who had walked, and pulled the Twins from behind. Killebrew had ripped a left-field circuit clout off rookie southpaw Rudy May, the Angels' starter, in the sixth.

The homers were the fourth and fifth for Harmon in his last 11 games after an anemic start.

Killebrew led the majors with 49 homers last year and has led the league three straight seasons.

Los Angeles built a 3-2 edge going into the eighth on Albie Pearson's first-inning homer. Jose Cardenal's third-inning sacrifice fly and a run-scoring single by Joe Adcock — the 1,700th major league hit for the veteran first baseman — in the sixth. Jerry Kindall singled home the first Minnesota run in the third.

Pete Ward's two-run homer in the seventh inning of the Chicago-Kansas City opener put the White Sox ahead to stay 5-4. Dick Green had put the A's on top with a grand-slam homer in the fifth.

Don Buford, who also homered for the Sox in the first game, singled in one run and Floyd Robinson's pop-fly single delivered another in a sixth-inning rally that decided the nightcap. The Kansas City runs came on a three-run homer by Jim Gentile and Bill Bryan's solo shot.

Bill Monbouquette stopped New York on six hits and short-stop Eddie Bressoud hit a fifth-inning home run as the Red Sox beat Yankee ace Jim Bouton. Frank Malzone collected three of the five Boston hits and Lee Thomas singled in the other run in the sixth.

Willie Horton, who had wrecked Washington the previous night with a home run and game-winning single, collected another homer and two singles to lead the Tigers past the Senators. Horton hit his fifth homer in the fourth inning, scored a run in the sixth and drove in another with an eighth-inning single.

Paul Blair's leadoff homer ignited a four-run, first-inning rally for Baltimore after Cleveland had scored twice in the top of the first. Dave McNally checked the Indians on two singles the rest of the way for his first victory of the season.

Howard Is Released From Hospital Thurs.

NEW YORK (AP) — Elston Howard, the New York Yankees All-Star catcher, was in a chipper mood today following his release from the hospital after surgery for the removal of bone chips from his right elbow.

"I might surprise a few people," Howard said from his Teaneck, N.J., home. "I feel so good now, I think I'll be able to come back before the time predicted."

It had been expected that Howard, who originally hurt the arm during an exhibition game in Puerto Rico and then re-injured it in the opening game of the season in Minnesota, would be out until June 15.

Attendance Is Up For Big Leagues

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball attendance for the first month of the 1965 season was up 5.4 per cent over last year, an Associated Press survey disclosed today.

The survey through Tuesday's games also reflected continued fan apathy in Milwaukee and Kansas City plus a resurgence in Houston where the Astros are playing in their new, enclosed stadium.

The Braves, committed to play in Atlanta next year, have averaged only 2,826 paid in their last 11 home appearances. Coupled with an opening-game turnstile count of 33,874 the total is 64,957. Last season, when they finished with an aggregate of 910,000, Milwaukee averaged 11,500 for the first 12 home dates.

Kansas City has averaged only 6,700 for 11 home dates. The aggregate of 74,405 is 16,425 under last season.

Title Race Could Be Closest Yet

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The title race could be the tightest in history at the 37th Big Eight track championships starting here Friday. The Associated Press form chart prediction comes out this way—Missouri 85, Oklahoma 84 and Kansas 81.

Kansas is the defending champion and the Jayhawks may be expected to go all-out to give Coach Bill Easton another championship in his final season. But Colorado and Oklahoma State may cut into Kansas distance power. The Jayhawks must score in the sprints to win it.

Missouri won the league indoor crown a year ago, then skidded to third in the outdoor. This year the Tigers again won the indoor and they will be determined to even matters for last year. But they may need third place finishes from Charles Allen in the 100 and 220 and Earl Denny in the broad jump. The competition is terrific in all three.

Oklahoma's field event strength will match that of Kansas if Ken Farris Jr. is in top form in the triple jump and broad jump. He hurt his back a week ago and is recovering. He has 1-2 potential in both events. The Sooners are picked for 84 points with only four points in these two events.

The prediction chart lists Nebraska a close fourth at 76, Oklahoma State 69, Colorado 59, Kansas State 48 and Iowa State 27. Nebraska and OSU are potent in the running events but weak in the field.

Nebraska sprinter Charlie Greene is picked to win both the 100 and 220 and anchor a winning 440 relay team. He will be a threat to the league records of 9.4 and 20.9. Oklahoma's Bill Calhoun, with a best of 46.7, is the choice to unseat Nebraska's Dave Crook in the 440. Jim Jackson of Oklahoma is chosen No. 2 in both the 100 and 220.

Colorado's Jim Miller is chosen to be the only other double winner. He is the American record holder in the 330 hurdles at 36.1 and co-holder of the meet mark of 14 flat in the highs.

Robin Lingle of Missouri, with a best of 4:01.7, is the choice to win the mile and smash the meet record of 4:04.9. But Dave Wighton of Colorado, who will concentrate on the three-mile, is chosen to upset Lingle for the gold medal. This will cut into Kansas strength. Herald Hadley and John Lawson of the Jayhawks may have to double in the mile and three-mile.

Missouri also expects to get gold medals from Gene Crews in the shot put and Steve Herndon in the high jump, where a meet mark of 6-10 may result from his battle with OSU's Russ Laverty and Oklahoma's Jim Johnson.

Thomas Austin Achieves Honors Program at CMS

Thomas E. Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Austin, 1020 West Seventh, has been accepted in the honors program at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, where he is a freshman, majoring in general business.

The honors program is for outstanding students doing accelerated college level work. The program also allows the student to do considerable independent study and research in special fields.

Austin and his wife Diane, a CMS psychology major, live in Warrensburg.

Tour Newspaper

Sixteen students of a special education class from C. C. Hubbard Division of Smith-Cotton High School toured the facilities of The Sedalia Democrat-Capital Wednesday morning. Their instructor, Mrs. Hallie Smith, accompanied the group.

Students making the tour were Arnela Wyatt, Tyrone Carter, Leo Washington, James Ballance, Theresa Gay, Harold Woods, Linda Pinkett, Arwilda Henderson, Carol Ann Jackson, Charles Willis, Minnie Willis, Ruth Hughes, Rosetta Wilson, Sherita Poindexter, Debra Willis and Larry Barnett.

A tour of the Southwestern Bell Telephone plant here was also planned Wednesday.

Desertion Common

Both Vietnamese Sides Have Manpower Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE—Defections are causing manpower problems for both the Red guerrillas and government forces fighting the war in South Viet Nam. Both sides find their recruits are unwilling soldiers. The following fourth of five AP news analyses of the war in Viet Nam details the conditions on the government and Communist sides.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In Saigon, many a South Vietnamese seems resigned to the idea—as he might put it—that the Viet Cong are "smarter than our generals and smarter than the long-noses, too." The "long-noses" are the Americans.

More and more Americans pour into Viet Nam. Technically advisers, they also fight. But they are not running the war. They do not command Vietnamese troops and will not unless a joint command is formed.

The influx of new American men, weapons and equipment in some respects raised the morale of veteran, professional Vietnamese units, but at the same time morale is a problem among South Vietnamese civilians, for whom the war long had been something unreal and far away. Now it seems near.

Some people in Saigon, not themselves involved in fighting the war, reacted with worry when they learned of the bombings of North Viet Nam. Some worried because they felt a kinship for North Vietnamese people apart from their dislike for the idea of being ruled by Communists. Others worried because they feared ultimate retaliation in kind against South Viet Nam and perhaps against Saigon itself. Some reflected fear that the extension of the war might make all Viet Nam the cockpit for major conflict among big powers.

People in Saigon know the Viet Cong Communists hold a great deal of South Vietnamese territory. The whole nation from north to south is criss-crossed by Viet Cong defenses, in forests, jungles, villages, along roads. New ones are added all the time as others are discovered by government forces. Always the Viet Cong are busy digging in, consolidating, building fortifications, while the government forces struggle to hold what they have.

Both the government and the Viet Cong face manpower troubles. Viet Cong losses have been heavy. Both sides have suffered losses from defection. Many a peasant impressed into Communist service has little love for it and is ready to take off at the first safe opportunity.

The Vietnamese army faces rising troubles as seasoned troops are lost and must be replaced by recruits. In February there were signs of demoralization in good fighting units which sustained heavy losses. One such had been the 52nd ranger battalion, a good South Vietnamese outfit.

A year ago, the 52nd had an authorized strength of 440 men. Losses to ambushes cut it to 115. It was beefed up to near 300, including 130 new recruits, last December. In their first battle, most of the recruits deserted.

The 52nd was not alone. Recruits have deserted from other infantry outfits. And as good fighters are killed, the manpower available to fill the ranks is often unreliable and unwilling.

The Viet Cong recruits constantly in areas under its control, and often its recruits are unwilling, too. A combination of persuasion, propaganda, terror and the tested Communist system of cell organization is used to keep them in line.

In Saigon and other cities, the government has some difficulties with conscription. "Sleeping on the roof" has become a sort of community sport for some young men. The expression means that when the military police are on the prowl for draft-dodgers, the young men scurry to the roofs and stay there, while old women and Buddhists badger the searchers. The M.P.'s avoid violence because it could mean new demonstrations and trouble—and often abandon the chase.

Young men—anti-Communist and patriotic—still volunteer, but the government must rely largely on conscription. Many a young city man wants no part of the army with its low pay and four or five days leave a year. He can make more as a houseboy for an American officer than he can earn as a non-commissioned officer. Once a houseboy or some other sort of servant, he feels safe.

Many a young city man seems to feel that if he gets into the army, it is because he has been outwitted. There are no slogans to inspire him. His government has been whatever assortment of generals happened to be in control after the latest coup. He is cynical about corruption and the idea that anyone can get away with anything if he has the money to buy his way out.

If he finally gets drafted, he may desert at the first opportunity. Desertion is not harshly punished. If he returns within 14 days he is likely to be excused. But more likely he will hide out.

The South Vietnamese army has an "authorized" strength of 500,000. The word "authorized" is an important qualification. It is difficult to say just what strength it is. The army is supposed to get another 160,000 men this year, but the source of these is the pool of young civilians in the cities, many of them unwilling and undependable.

Pilot Training Program To Get Underway For CAP

Civil Air Patrol announced recently that it will introduce pilot training into its cadet program this summer when a group of selected cadets will receive powered flight and soaring flight instruction.

The new program will be started in July and will be conducted at Elmira, N. Y. The powered flight instruction course is tentatively scheduled to be conducted at the Chemung County Airport and the soaring flight instruction at the adjacent Harris Hill Soaring Facility. CAP cadets from all 50 states will participate.

Col. Joe L. Mason, USAF, national commander of Civil Air Patrol, said a flying program for cadets "has long been needed" and will afford CAP's 48,800 male cadets an opportunity for "complete aerospace age training."

Col. Mason also announced that the Schweizer Aircraft Corporation Soaring School at Elmira will operate the soaring flight instruction program for CAP. He said selection of a contractor for the powered flight instruction program has not yet been made.

Complimenting the CAP National Executive Committee on its decision to initiate the flying program, Mason said he was "extremely pleased" since his chief objective upon becoming CAP national commander in August, 1964, "has been to obtain more positive, active flying programs for the Civil Air Patrol."

Up to now, CAP cadets have received only orientation flights. This program will make it possible for a cadet to obtain a Federal Aviation Agency private pilot license or private glider pilot license, depending upon which course he attends.

Civil Air Patrol will finance the $20,000 program from corporation funds, with the cadets being required only to pay $4.50 per day for meals. The corporation will pay all other costs, including housing, and the Air Force will provide transportation to the encampment.

Only male cadets will be eligible for the initial program and selection will be based on criteria established for the other special cadet summer activities currently operated by CAP. Subsequent programs will include female cadets.

The program will offer three courses: a two-week glider pilot training program, a three to four-week powered flight course and a one-week glider pilot orientation course. All courses will operate simultaneously, beginning July 18.

Two classes of eight cadets each will be selected for the glider pilot training course, successful completion of which will qualify the cadet for award of the FAA private glider pilot rating. Additionally, the cadet should meet all requirements for the Federation Aeronautique Internationale (an international organization which authenticates aeronautical flight achievements worldwide) "C" award. Additionally, he will qualify for membership in the Soaring Society of America.

Twelve cadets will be selected for the powered flight course and upon successful completion will receive a private pilot license.

Sixteen cadets will be selected for each of the glider pilot orientation courses to be conducted. This course is designed to provide an introduction to soaring and to motivate cadets toward continuing in the program and accomplishing the prescribed academic achievements.

CAP will, in effect, virtually take over the Harris Hill facility for a one-month period in July and will operate a cadet summer flying encampment with the cadet students following a quasi-military schedule during their stay there. CAP officers will command the cadet encampment, with USAF officers from CAP national headquarters at Ellington AFB, Texas, supervising and assisting. CAP is a civilian auxiliary of the USAF.

CAP's national commander and operational staff officers will visit the Harris Hill facility and Schweizer plant at Elmira this week to inspect the housing and operational facilities and to formally conclude a contract with Schweizer for operation of the soaring instruction courses. At the same time the CAP-USA party will attempt to negotiate arrangements with Chemung County airport officials for operation of the powered flight instruction course.

Bargains In Beef, Pork Are Scarce

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bargains in beef and pork will be hard to find in the nation's food stores this weekend.

Housewives probably will do well to check the prices of specials and to look for low-priced substitutes, like eggs, fish and chicken, for the next few weeks at least.

Behind the higher price levels is a restricted supply of livestock this spring.

One national supermarket chain wasn't able to find a single beef or pork cut to sell at reduced price this weekend in New York City area outlets.

Although the higher wholesale prices may not mean too many increases at the meat counters, they will leave the retailers less room to make bargains for at least a month or two.

Rough weather this spring has cut into some fruit and vegetable crops. Prices may be a bit higher than usual.

Better buys in vegetables vary by region, but cooking greens, spinach, carrots and turnips may be attractively priced. Lettuce, celery and cabbage are higher in several areas.

Bananas and citrus fruits appear to head the list of best buys in fruits.

Rights Laws Stem From Civil War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil War made the United States rights conscious and in the years following Congress has burst forth with a flurry of civil rights legislation.

One of the laws passed in the Reconstruction Days made it a crime for two or more people to conspire to deprive anyone of his constitutional rights. A second and companion statute prohibited such action "under color of any law."

Now, almost a century later, they are the key weapons in the administration's program to protect Negroes' civil rights in the South.

The weapon has been blunted by federal judges who think the laws are stretched out of shape when they are used in racist murder cases.

But until Congress provides more appropriate legislation, the Justice Department has to depend on them to see that at least some punishment is meted out in civil rights crimes.

Murder is a state crime unless it is committed on federal property. But Southern juries rarely have convicted white men in the slaying of a Negro. And when state officials won't prosecute in a murder case, federal authorities find themselves hard put for a way to intervene.

So the Justice Department continues to travel the 1870 road and keeps running into roadblocks. The Supreme Court recently agreed to consider its request that the road be cleared.

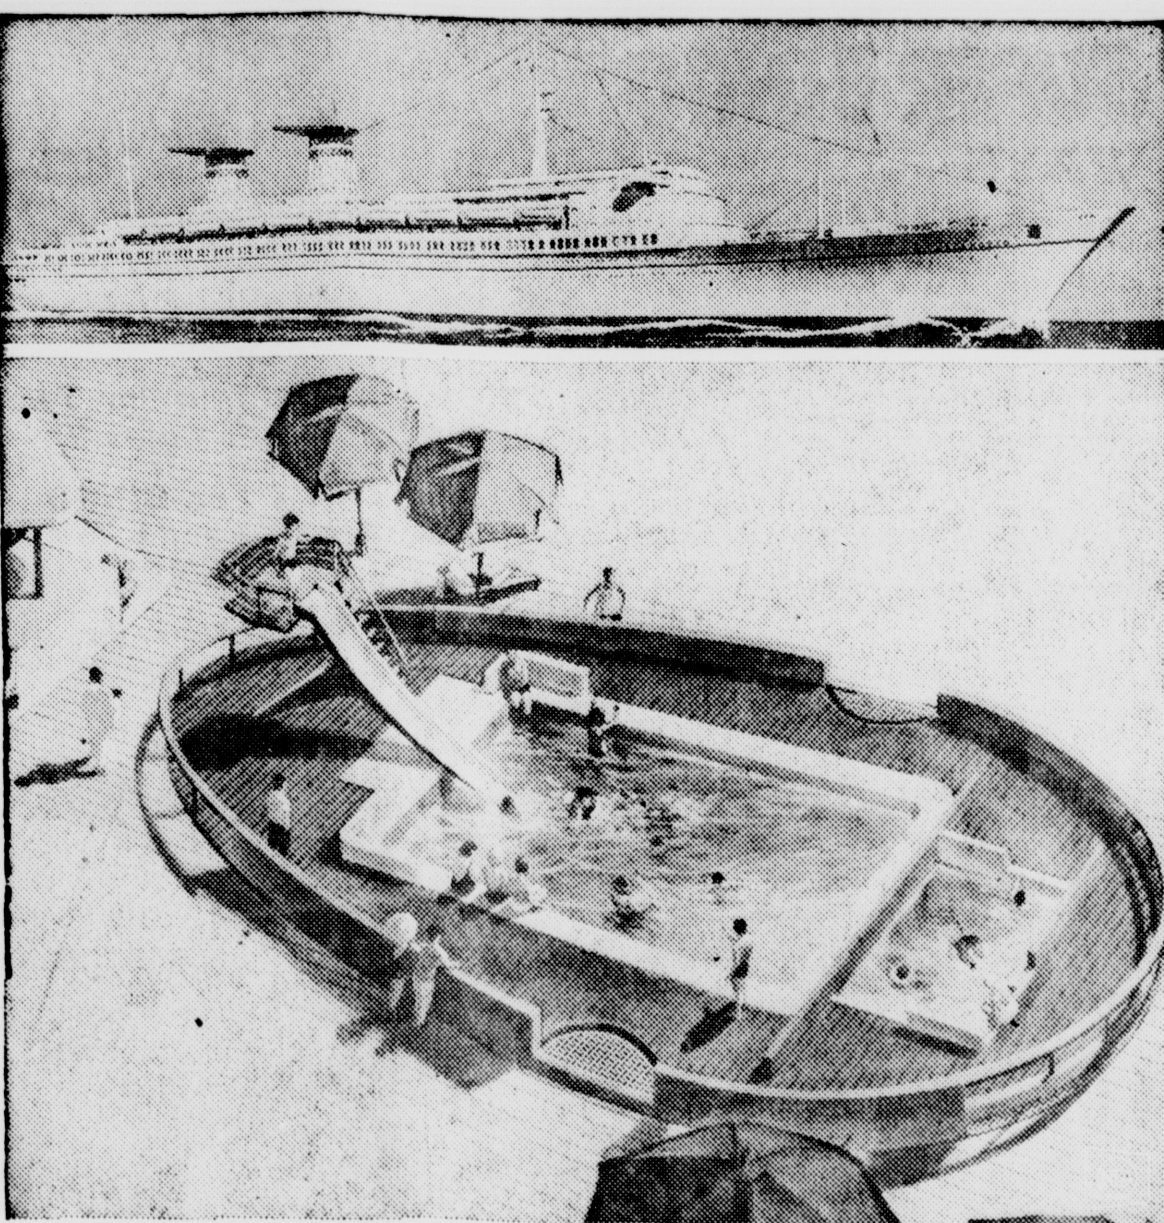

The case that the court agreed to review — probably not until next fall — grows out of the slayings of three young civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss., last June.

Last January, a federal grand jury returned felony indictments against 17 white men under the 1870 conspiracy law, accusing them of acting together to deprive the slain rights workers of their constitutional rights by plotting their murder. The maximum penalty upon conviction would be 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

A month later, U.S. Dist. Judge Harold W. Cox, sitting in Meridian, Miss., dismissed the indictment, ruling that the law had been misused to cover a "heinous crime against the State of Mississippi but not a crime against the United States."

A misdemeanor indictment under the second law was allowed to stand against three law enforcement officers. This "police brutality" statute carries a lesser penalty of not more than a $1,000 fine, a year in prison, or both.

eral judge, William A. Bootle, sitting in Macon, Ga., dismissed an indictment obtained under the conspiracy law against four Ku Klux Klansmen accused of slaying Lemuel Penn, a Negro educator.

LUXURY AFLOAT: This is one of six outdoor swimming pools especially designed for sun and fun on the Italian Line's superliner, Michelangelo (above) which is due to arrive in New York on its maiden voyage in May. There will be none of the usual splashing by the youngsters. They will have their own de luxe "swimming hole."

Sedalia Women Enter CMS Honorary Society

Miss Linda Ann Redmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Redmond, 422 Wilkerson and Miss Janet S. Burford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burford, 722 East 13th, have been initiated into Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary society for freshmen women at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg.

Membership is based on earned freshman grades. It requires a cumulative grade-point average of 3.5 for the first quarter, the first two quarters, or the entire freshman year.

New Life Insurance Firm Here

A new insurance company — New Empire Life — has moved its offices to Sedalia and is located in the Securities Building on West 11th. The firm, ten years old, was formerly located in Kansas City and was purchased Feb. 26 of this year and moved to its Sedalia location March 2.

New Empire has 25 incorporators, with a ten man board of directors. Directors are: J. G. McNelly, W. F. Ewton, F. C. Sanders, Jay Adams, P. Evans Little, Alvin Jording, J. Clay Schroeder, John Dukewits, Louis Feldman and Leroy Ryan.

Executives of the company are J. G. McNelly, president; W. F. Ewton, executive vice president; F. C. Sanders, secretary-treasurer; R. B. Anderson, training director.

The company is in the A & H mail out business, as well as handling all different policies in its life insurance department. It has 17 special representatives trained to sell the family plan policy. The company is also in the process of issuing some 20 different policies which will cover the field of life, endowment and term.

The company now operates its mail out business in 48 states and hopes to expand its life operation as fast as is feasible for the company.

The agency department has set a goal for the life department alone, the first year of $50-million worth of business or better, in addition to mail out business.

Plans More Vietnamese Assistance

SUFFERN, N. Y. — A pretty, young Army widow who aided a Vietnamese village with medicines and infant food in memory of her husband now proposes to help children there with school supplies.

From her farmhouse outside this village of 5,500, Barbara Spruill discussed her interest in the Mekong River delta village of Cai Son, 10,000 miles away.

"Jim had talked often about the school and the children," said Mrs. Spruill, 32. "He was teaching a small English class."

Her husband, Capt. James P. Spruill of Plymouth, N. C., lived in Cai Son for five months as military adviser until his Jeep touched off a Communist land mine a year ago. The blast killed him, a U.S. Army sergeant and three Vietnamese soldiers.

In the captain's letters, and later in his diary, Mrs. Spruill read of another Viet Cong mine explosion that had gravely injured four children. The diary noted that this emergency had wiped out the village's medical supplies.

"Jim was trying hard to do something there," Mrs. Spruill said.

She wrote to several U.S. pharmaceutical companies, asking for medicines, infant formulas and powdered milk. They responded with the gifts and paid for shipping them.

"The Vietnamese made a big ceremony of accepting them," Mrs. Spruill said, opening a scrapbook to copies of speeches by local dignitaries. The main speaker had been Lt. Col. Nguyen Khac Tuan, chief of the Vinh Long Province.

"I don't think I'm going to contact any school supply firms," she said. "I probably will just send the money and maybe they can purchase Vietnamese supplies and that way it wouldn't be another isolated American gift."

The Army compiled excerpts from his Viet Nam letters in a 12-page booklet, "The Line is Drawn."

This and other mementos adorn the farmhouse apartment: a Purple Heart and other medals, framed behind glass. A portrait of the West Point cadet.

preaching and teaching ministries of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, compose the band. St. Paul's College, the school represented by the band, is a combined high school and junior college of the Missouri Synod designed for the training of professional church workers.

Highlighting the May 16 presentation will be Gustav Holtz's "Second Suite in F Major for Military Band," selections from the Broadway musicals "West Side Story" and "Music Man," and Frank Cofield's "Trumpets Ole."

Paul Eickmann, a graduate of Concordia Teachers College in Seward, Nebr., and a graduate student at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., is director of the band.

In previous years the band has presented concerts in the Kansas City and St. Louis areas, where it was enthusiastically received.

Twenty Years Ago

Former Marine Pilot Notes Carrier Disaster of WWII

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty years ago this month, the nation learned of one of its most grievous losses of World War II. A terribly battered and burned aircraft carrier, the Franklin, arrived in New York harbor, under her own power, after a roundabout cruise from the Pacific, on May 17, 1945.

With the return to home port, the Navy disclosed that the Franklin, a huge Essex-class carrier, had been hit by Japanese bombs 60 miles off Japan the preceding March 19, and had been turned into an exploding ammunition dump.

In eight hours of hell, 724 men were lost. An additional 265 were wounded.

One of the Marine pilots aboard the "Big Ben" when the enemy bombs hit was Lt. Carroll K. Faught, who was listed on the official records as lost in action but actually survived and is now a government official.

But Faught was the only pilot in his ready room to live. He showed up at Mare Island, Calif., less one leg, some three months after the disaster.

Faught now is special assistant to the undersecretary of commerce and director of the office of emergency transportation.

Faught recalls that on the morning of March 19, 1945, the Franklin's aircraft and crews were preparing to launch a fighter sweep over Japan when an observation plane reported sighting the enemy battleship Yamato steaming out of the Bay of Japan.

Orders were changed. Big Ben's pilots were to get the Yamato. This meant a delay in takeoff to permit briefing of crews on new navigation information, and changing of the aircraft armament.

It was this delay in launching that led to the disaster. As it happened, most of the Franklin's planes were still on the flight deck, loaded with bombs, rockets, torpedoes and machine-gun ammunition, when a lone Japanese dive bomber — its approach unnoticed — streaked down through the early morning haze.

The Japanese plane dropped two armor-piercing 500-pound bombs. One hit near the forward elevator and the other on the aft part of the ship. Both sank deep into her before they exploded.

Faught recalls that the pilots of his squadron were in Ready

Room 5, being briefed on the new mission, when the first bomb exploded on the deck directly below.

He said the floor of the room rose like a giant mushroom, and crushed every other pilot there against the ceiling.

Faught was fortunate enough to be standing close to a wall, looking at a map. But both legs and his right arm were broken in the first blast.

Faught described his experience later, in a letter to his mother in Laramie, Wyo., in these terms:

"So I crawled out on the catwalk. I sat there for a while and there were explosions that bounced me up and down.

"I didn't have a life jacket, but when the fire started getting out where we were, I turned to Jones and said, 'I'm going over,' and I jumped.

"It was 85 feet to the water and I thought I would never hit, but it wasn't as bad as I thought it would be. The water was pretty cold, but not bad.

"I swam around a while and then I found a seat cushion out of one of the planes and I hung onto it.

"There were guys all around me drowning and there wasn't a thing I could do but watch. After 2½ hours, I was picked up by a destroyer named the Marshall.

"It's the best ship in the whole Navy. Boy, was I glad to see it.

"Well, the next day we transferred to a cruiser. They had a hospital and three swell doctors; one of them was an orthopedist which was really lucky.

"My left leg didn't seem to have any circulation. After four days they operated on it and found the artery was dead and shattered, so the next day they told me about it.

"The doctor said it would have to come off at the knee and I said, 'Okay, if it's dead, it's dead.'

Commanders of other ships braved the explosions and fire to move in close, pick up survivors and help fight the flames.

THE EVERGREEN CROSS—On the slope of Goat Hill, near Enumclaw, Wash., workmen of the Weyerhaeuser Company have created an evergreen cross. The area, used as a natural seeding source, is visible from the Chinook Pass highway. In addition to its natural beauty, it has served as the inspiration for poetry and meditation.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Epworth Methodist Church met at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Minnie Harrington opened the meeting with prayer after which a poem was read.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, president.

Corsages for missions were presented to Mrs. Shirley Pahlow and Mrs. Bernice McGee for outstanding work in the Guild. These presentations were made by Mrs. Bernice Ringen.

Special recognition was made by the Guild president, Mrs. Hunter, as Epworth Church now has two district Guild officers, Mrs. Bernice Ringen as District Guild president and Mrs. Shirley Pahlow as District Guild recording secretary.

Installation of officers for 1965-66 was made by the retiring Guild coordinator, Mrs. Orpha Wheeler, who used for her theme, "The Three I's—Ignite, Instruct and Inspire," with each new officer giving a scripture passage as being installed.

The program was presented by the Guild treasurer, Shirley Pahlow, using the annual pledge service. Taking part on the program were Mrs. Bernice Ringen, Mrs. Juanita Conner and Mrs. Bernice McGee.

After the pledge service Shirley Pahlow sang the theme in song, "To Serve Right Gloriously," which was the conference theme.

New officers installed were: Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, president; Mrs. Bernice McGee, vice-president; Mrs. Shirley Pahlow, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Mary Stephens, coordinator.

Mrs. Hunter appointed the following secretaries on commissions: missionary education, Mrs. Zelena Stultz; Christian social concerns, Mrs. Juanita Conner; spiritual life, Mrs. Mildred Glenn; publication and publicity, Mrs. Bernice McGee; supply work, Mrs. Analu Fair; local church, Miss Pearl Rose.

During the social session Mrs. Hunter presented to Mrs. Orpha Wheeler a gift of appreciation from the Guild for her fine leadership of being coordinator.

The color scheme was pastel shades with May poles and May baskets which were made by Mrs. Pahlow.

The next meeting will be June 1 at the home of Mrs. Edith Fink with Mrs. Pahlow as assistant hostess.

PETITION

We ask for the right to vote on CATV "Cable TV" with the following being just a few reasons:

1. At the present there is no national or state regulation on CATV operation.
2. CBS and NBC have challenged CATV's practice of relaying TV programs without owner's consent. ABC has petitioned the FCC to regulate CATV stating, "unregulated CATV threatens to stifle or even replace in major part, Free TV broadcasting . . ."
3. The Fischer Report proves that the economic impact of CATV competition on local broadcasting stations is severe.
4. CATV threatens UHF development and educational TV development.
5. We need something to assure that pay TV is not brought in through the back door.

BOYS CLUB NOTES

New members are Scott Burkholder, Steve Glass, Jim Van Horn, Norman Grass and Rickie Crouch.

Average attendance for month of April was 76. Membership for the club to date this year is 206.

Mark White is the table tennis champion being the winner of the recent tournament. To date he has one challenger, David Delapp and to win the championship he must win three out of five matches.

Due to the warmer weather the game room is getting a lot of attention and the reading room is also in demand with several of the boys taking some magazines to read.

Little League, and Babe Ruth baseball will take care of a large percentage of the Boys Club members but those who are not participating in these events will be in the summer program at the club which will be held on Saturday mornings. The starting date and time has not been set by the staff. For the summer program several hikes are being planned, some fishing and swimming and softball.

Boxing will be dropped from the summer program although most of the weight lifters will continue light training in view of staying in condition for fall and the AAU meet for Central Missouri championships.
